JFK Tributes Read To RFK

FARMVILLE, Va. (AP) — Aty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, sipping milk from a school lunch carton, paused in brief silence Monday to read tributes children at Prince Edward County's free schools had written about his assassinated brother.

For just a short time he was virtually alone as the throng of children and school officials stood back to let him look at Kennedy family pictures and read the youngsters' compositions about the late President John F. Kennedy.

Blatt's Lead Shrinks More

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Genevieve Blatt's slender lead in the race for the Democratic senatorial nomination shrank to 2,669 Monday night as Allegheny County official returns gave Justice Michael Musmanno a relative gain of almost 600 votes.

With all but the absentee ballots reported, Allegheny County gave Miss Blatt an official total of 82,011—1,631 less than the unofficial report. Musmanno also slipped, but only by 1,037, giving him a net gain of 594. His official total was 117,806.

3 Killed In Cyprus Clash

FAMAGUSTA, Cyprus (AP)—Two Greek army officers and a Greek Cypriot youth leader were shot dead by Turkish Cypriots Monday in a new chapter of Cyprus violence. The Greek government called it "cold-blooded Turkish murder . . . a barbaric and inhuman act. . ."

A third Greek officer was wounded when the four men tried to leave the Turkish Cypriot-held old walled area of Famagusta The three officers were in civilian clothes.

1st Lady Pushes 'New South'

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson talked about the new South Monday—"a South strong in its fairness and mighty in its contribution to the mind and spirit of all these United States."

She said this new South "while never forgetting or slighting the gallantry and chivalry of its long past, will also not now ignore the shortcomings and inequities of that past as it reaches out for tomorrow's birthright."

31 Cubans Make It To Miami

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Thirty-two refugees fled Cuba in four boats and 31 of them made it to Miami Monday. One died en route.

Chester Parents To Demonstrate

CHESTER, Pa. (AP) — Chester, where civil rights demonstrators have marched frequently in recent weeks, may see a demonstration soon by an opposing group.

Mrs. Louise Draper, temporary president of the Chester Parents Association, a predominantly white organization, said a meeting will be held Thursday night in a fire house to discuss plans for a mass rally.

Volume Drops On Market

NEW YORK — The stock market Monday went through another session of mild decline as volume sank to the smallest total in nearly three months.

Volume was 4.51 million shares compared with 4.93 million Friday, the lightest since Feb. 19 when it was 4.26 million.

The Dow Jones industrial average took a minor loss of 1.50 at 827.07.

E-Burg Band To Play At NY Fair

EAST STROUDSBURG — The East Stroudsburg Area High School Band will play a concert July 7 at the World's Fair in New York City.

Robert Zellner, band director, last night said, when asked on what basis the band was picked, "I have no idea on what basis the choice was made. I believe it was made on our past record."

Goddard Bucks Admission Fees For State Parks

HARRISBURG (AP) — Dr. Maurice K. Goddard, state secretary of forests and waters, stood firm Monday in his battle against efforts to establish admission charges at Pennsylvania state parks.

Urging prompt legislative action on enabling legislation for Project 70, Pennsylvania's $70 million recreation and land reclamation program, Goddard said admission charges would discourage use of state parks.

"You don't put parking meters in shopping plazas because you want people to come," Goddard declared in testimony before the Senate Forests and Waters Committee. "We want people to use our parks too; we want them there."

The Pennsylvania Chamber of Commerce proposed the admission charges for all state parks built under the Project 70 plan.

"Admission charges would close parks in many cases to our youth, our retired and those with limited incomes," Goddard said.

He told the committee that just last weekend he saw hundreds of children fishing for Blue Gills at Pinchot Lake Park in York County.

"Isn't it better that they were fishing instead of throwing rocks through garage windows or something," he asked.

The Senate Forests and Waters Committee called the special one-day hearing to air the pros and cons on the Project 70 enabling legislation.

Chairman Zehnder H. Confair, R-Lycoming, said the legislators would discuss their findings in the next two weeks, preparing the bill for action ths week of May 25.

The Pennsylvania Farmers Association urged creation of a public lands commission to regulate purchases under the program.

$58 Million Slated For State Aided Units

HARRISBURG (AP) — The House Appropriations Committee Monday approved the $1.067 billion general appropriations bill which will finance the bulk of state government operations during the year beginning July 1.

At the same time, the committee also voted to approve a package of bills appropriating $58 million to state-aided institutions, such as colleges and universities and hospitals.

The bills will be physically sent to the floor of the House Tuesday and started on the process of consideration.

Meanwhile, the House approved unanimously and sent to the Senate a package of general government housekeeping bills, including pension and social security tax payments, totaling $20 million.

All of the appropriations bills together will total about $1.167 billion for the 1964-65 fiscal year.

The joint House-Senate Appropriations Committee will meet Tuesday to consider the $566 million motor vehicle fund budget, which is separate from the general fund spending program.

Action on the appropriations bills is a harbinger of the end of the 1964 session.

However, legislative leaders reported a slight setback in their tentative plan to conclude the session by the end of May. Next week's session has been postponed because two conventions in Harrisburg will take up most of the available hotel space.

Present plans now are to work five days this week and five more the week of May 25.

With luck the session could be ended before Memorial Day, but some leaders privately predict that the meeting will go into the first week of June.

Both houses met only briefly Monday.

These were the highlights:

Project 70 — Dr. Maurice K. Goddard, secretary of forests and waters, told a Senate committee considering the Project 70 bill that there should be no admission charges in state parks. The State Chamber of Commerce proposed the admission charges.

Judicial Reform—The Scranton administration's plan to reform the state's court system, including elimination of justices of the peace, was introduced in the House with only one sponsor — Rep. Austin M. Lee, a Philadelphia Republican defeated for re-nomination to another term.

The amendment, which would have to be approved by two sessions of the legislature and the voters in a referendum, would provide for a selection of judges by the governor from a special list provided by a selection committee. Judges would run for election later on their records, with the voters simply saying yes or no.

Investigations—House resolutions called for investigations of the Milk Control Commission, auto insurance companies and transactions in the stock of the Philadelphia Transportation Committee. The proposals were referred o committee for further study.

Wirtz Starts Probe Of Hoffa Legal Fees

WASHIGTON (AP) — The Labor Department added Monday to the mounting troubles of Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa, launching an investigation of his huge union-paid legal fees.

Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz announced the investigation into one of the labor world's most tightly guarded secrets — the amount of money paid to defend Hoffa in his long series of federal court battles.

Sources have estimated the figure at from several hundred thousand dollars to as much as one million.

Although labor law gives Wirtz no power to halt such use of union funds, the investigation taken with other recent developments appears to add up to increasingly serious trouble for Hoffa both inside and outside his giant union.

Now on trial in Chicago on charges of fraudulent use of $20 million in Teamsters funds and appealing an eight-year jury-tampering sentence in another case, Hoffa faces opposition from rank-and file Teamsters and the union's top command.

Hoffa declined comment on Writz's action.

The Labor Department investigation was undertaken at the request of a 16-member group of anti-Hoffa Teamsters in Philadelphia.

The same group began the dispute that reverberated up to the Teamsters' ruling executive board several weeks ago and led Hoffa to announce angrily he would stop using union funds for his legal bills until outside legal advice can be obtained.

The Teamsters' general counsel, Edward Bennett Williams, has advised it is illegal to pay Hoffa's court and attorney fees out of the union treasury.

Williams also advised that Hoffa might have to pay personal income taxes on any such payments.

Irate Humphrey Hits Rights Vote Delay

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate was ordered back into overtime sessions Monday night when leaders' hopes for more voting on civil rights bill amendments were shattered by Southern opposition.

"This whole procedure is disgusting," said Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., floor manager for the bill.

Humphrey blamed the non-Southern majority of the Senate for allowing the Southern minority to hold up action on the bill, now in its tenth week of discussion.

"It isn't the South that's delaying the civil rights bill," Humphrey told newsmen. "It's the 81 senators who do not live in the South."

He added that "as long as the majority stands around with jelly as a spine" any minority can thwart the Senate. He called it "adult delinquency."

"When the Senate becomes sufficiently disgusted with itself and these methods, we'll start to vote," he said.

Humphrey spoke after Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., spokesmen for the Southern group, told newsmen he does not think there will be any votes this week.

Russell added that the Southerners will meet Tuesday, and he will be in a better position then to assess the situation.

Humphrey, who had expressed hope with other party leaders that a series of jury-trial amendments could be disposed of this week, announced the Senate will remain in session until midnight.

Humphrey said there will be no action on other bills, including appropriations, until after the civil rights measure is out of the way.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana told newsmen that if necessary the Senate will stay in session all year except for recesses during the national political conventions.

"It's an issue we can't dodge," Mansfield said.

The Southerners are insisting that the legislation include provision for jury trials in criminal contempt cases arising out of alleged civil rights violations.

The Senate last Wednesday night rejected 46 to 45 an amendment by Sen. Thruston B. Morton, R-Ky., to provide for jury trials.

Khrushchev Backs Arabs, Raps Israel

CAIRO (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev drew thunderous applause from the Egyptian Parliament with a firm declaration Monday of Soviet support for the Arabs in their bitter feuds with Israel and Britain.

President Gamal Abdel Nasser also led his one-party Parliament in applauding Khrushchev's promise to continue providing arms with which to push the Western powers out of Africa.

The Soviet leader in an hour-long speech to the legislature:

—Denounced Israel's project for diverting the Jordan River waters as a scheme to "rob Arabs of their own water."

—Endorsed Arab demands for the evacuation of British military bases in Libya and Cyprus and Aden troublespots.

—Declared Soviet weapons will always be available to forces engaged in "the sacred struggle" against Colonialism.

Khrushchev's speech appeared to be aimed mostly at winning the favor of a Middle East and African audience. He touched only briefly on the major anti-Chinese propaganda theme.

Stoddard Leaves Joint School Unit

BANGOR — David Stoddard, president of the Bangor Borough School Board, last night removed himself as a member of the Bangor Area Joint School Committee.

Stoddard explained that in all fairness to the work of the joint committee and the approaching reorganization of the school district, he felt that a member of the Bangor board who has been elected by the 37-member joint school board to serve on the interim committee could better serve the interest of the children and education by appointing another person.

As a result, Stoddard named Mrs. Charlotte Hough as his replacement.

At the same time by an executive order, he directed that premises, known as the former R. H. Steinmetz residence, at the corner of Third St. and Broadway, be placed in respectable condition; that the grounds be properly attended, and that the building in general be cleaned and kept in condition that its station demanded.

The property is owned by the borough school district and was purchased with a view of using it as an administrative office building.

With the advent of reorganization the disposition of the property will be in the hands of the interim committee after July 1, 1964.

Stoddard indicated the investment of the taxpayers money must be protected.

Because of the reorganization the Bangor board dissolved its joint sponsorship of the summer recreational program with the Bangor Borough Council.

This program is annually conducted at the Bangor Memorial Park and the continuance of the program was placed in the hands of the interim committee.

James Palmeri, A. J. Patti and Donald Williams, current bus contractors for the borough school district, also inquired as to their status for the next school year.

They were informed that this decision would be made by the new interim committee after July 1, since the Bangor board will end its existence as of June 30.

Bills totaling $41,576 were approved for payment. A balance of $115,145 was reported in the accounts of the district as follows:

Good Morning!

There are two kinds of voters: those who support your candidate and a lot of stupid, ignorant, prejudiced fools.

Rusk Urges Backing Of Cuba Boycott

THE HAGUE (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk sought Monday night to mobilize members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization behind U.S. efforts to choke Cuba's economic life and help Communist-menaced South Viet Nam.

With quiet diplomacy on the eve of the NATO ministerial meeting, Rusk also moved to forestall a rupture of the North Atlantic alliance's southeastern flank, urging Greece and Turkey to come to terms quickly over Cyprus.

During a day of intense diplomatic activity, Rusk met with British Foreign Secretary Richard A. Butler and foreign ministers Gerhard Schroeder of West Germany, Feridun Cemal Erkin of Turkey, Stavros Kostopoulos of Greece and A. Franco Nogueira of Portugal.

Informed sources said Rusk sought to learn from Nogueira Portugal's intentions about the future of Angola, Mozambique and Portuguese Guinea. Rusk was reported to have told him Portugal should at some point be willing to grant self-determination to the African colonies.

The United States wants its allies to join in a virtual trade embargo of the Castro regime. It particularly opposes the recent sales of British buses and French locomotives to Cuba on state-guaranteed credit.

There were some signs Rusk may be on the verge of persuading the British to check their trade with Cuba, but sources said there had been no concrete development along this line.

On South Viet Nam, the United States wants its allies to provide some help to bolster the morale of the people, such as sending nurses or technicians. This would make the Vietnamese feel less isolated, it was felt.

On the Cyprus diplomatic front, the Turkish government came forward with a plan for a federated Cyprus with the Greek- and Turkish-speaking communities organized into separate cantons on the Swiss model.

Robert S. McNamara

Viet Nam Guard For McNamara

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Security was tightened Tuesday for the arrival of U.S. Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara after a Communist agent suspected of plotting to kill him tried to break away from police custody.

One of three Viet Cong terrorists arrested for mining a bridge over which McNamara is to pass, Nugyen Van Troi, leaped from a second-floor window at police headquarters, police reported.

Troi landed on a jeep and was taken unconscious to a hospital. He suffered a broken leg in the fall.

Security sources said police had rounded up a number of other Viet Cong suspects, some armed with hand grenades and other weapons, in a series of raids since the three were seized Saturday night. Some high explosives have been unearthed.

Despite the reported death plot, McNamara showed no particular concern as he took off from Bonn, Germany, for Saigon after three days of talks with German leaders.

U.S. officials were silent on whether a new route would be chosen for McNamara's drive from the airport to the capital.

It was expected that U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge would ride into Saigon with McNamara.

McNamara, who visited Saigon only last March, is making a second visit to check on the way the U.S.-supported war against the Communist Viet Cong guerrillas is going.

Barrett Twp. Okays PM Budget Share

CANADENSIS — Barrett School Directors last night tentatively approved the township's share of the Pocono Mountain Joint School budget. It was established at $308,246.26.

The proposed millage in the Barrett Twp. budget is three mills more than last year's, which was 29 mills.

The proposed budget for 1964-65 will be posted for 30 days and remains one of the lowest millages in the county, at 32 mills on a $7,976,275 assessment, and includes two $5 per capita taxes.

Included in the budget are $52,567.20, rental for the high school building; $246,979.06, township's share for jointure bills; $5,900, general control; $2,000, auxiliary and coordinated agencies, and $800, fixed charges.

In other business, Arthur McCambridge was re-elected treasurer of the township board for a third term. The board also reappointed Mrs. Earl Thomas as representative to the Barrett Twp. Recreation Board for a four-year term.

LBJ Vows To Double Aid To Alliance

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, announcing the signing of 12 new loan pacts and commitments for 13 Latin American countries, pledged Monday that the United States will double its assistance activities under the Alliance for Progress.

Johnson addressed the ambassadors from the Alliance for Progress countries and the Latin representatives to the Organization of American States, after an hour-long private conference with them at the White House.

He told them the United States has begun its own "all-out war on poverty" because a just country "cannot permit a class of forsaken in the midst of the fortunate."

"We are also marching forward in our struggle to eliminate racial injustice to permit every man, of every race and color and belief, to share fully in our national life," Johnson said.

"In the same way we will join with those forces across the hemisphere who seek to advance their own democratic revolution.

"We work because morality commands it, justice requires it, and our own dignity as men depends on it. We work not because we fear the unjust wrath of our enemy but because we fear the just wrath of God."

Helmeted Soldiers Halt Rights Rally

Earlier, the demonstrators, both white and Negro, had tried to march toward an arena where Wallace addressed the Dorchester Business and Citizens Association. The guardsmen cut them off and Wallace departed by car, apparently unaware of the disturbance.

About an hour later, the integrationists reformed and marched toward Cedar and Race streets, near the border of the 2nd (Negro) District.

Again they were met by a phalanx of soldiers who wore tear gas masks and whose bayonets were fixed on their rifles. Col. Maurice D. Tawes jumped from a military police jeep and said to Mrs. Gloria Richardson, chairman of the Cambridge Nonviolent Action Committee: "You want them all to be arrested?"

Mrs. Richardson said she did.

"We'll be glad to accommodate you, then," said Tawes, a distant cousin of Gov. J. Millard Tawes.

But when the soldiers tried to break up the crowd, the demonstrators piled atop each other on the pavement. Rocks and bottles pelted the guardsmen.

Finally Tawes ordered tear gas used. Three of the gas grenades broke over the heads of the demonstrators, sending them scurrying to their homes.

The choking gas lingered thickly in the air, wafts drifting toward the downtown section of the community of 12,600.

Col. Tawes ordered a curfew put into immediate effect and said anyone found on the streets would be arrested.

Soon after 11 p.m. there were no pedestrians or cars to be seen on the streets. Two army trucks with demonstrators in the back were parked across the street from the National Guard armory. It looked like a dozen persons were on the trucks. No one would say whether they had been arrested or, if so, where they would be taken.

Cambridge has been under modified martial law since racial disturbances last summer. Demonstrations have been banned since then.

The integrationists, including many whites, had met at 6 p.m. in the Negro Elks' Hall to protest Wallace's appearance. He is campaigning in Maryland's presidential primary on May 19.

Rash Of Crashes Kill 87 Persons

MANILA, (AP) — A U.S. jet transport carrying military personnel plunged to the ground and burned short of the runway at Clark Air Force Base Monday night.

Several hours later the death toll stood at 75, including a man in a taxicab hit by the crashing plane.

The U.S. Air Force said 73 of the 83 persons aboard the plane were killed on impact. Another died in a hospital later. Two other passengers in the taxicab were injured.

Some left the plane at Hickam near Honolulu, while others boarded there. The Air Force said no wives and children were aboard but there was at least one flight nurse on the plane. Most of the victims were Air Force and Navy enlisted personnel.

The four-engine C135, with 73 passengers and a crew of 10, was flying into this base after a stop at Hickam Air Force Base in Hawaii en route from Travis Air Force Base, Calif.

The plane smashed into the ground about a quarter of a mile from the runway. An Air Force spokesman said it was on schedule, and there was no hint of any trouble at any time. A rain squall at the time was not regarded as an obstacle in effecting a landing.

10 Lost Near Spain

CADIZ, Spain (AP) — A U.S. Navy patrol plane crashed at sea 20 miles off the Spanish coast Monday and its crew of 10 was believed lost.

Navy Cmdr. T. A. Graham, directing an air-sea search for survivors, said considerable wreckage had been found but that no bodies had been recovered.

The long-range P2V patrol plane was taking part in maneuvers about 20 miles off the U.S. Polaris submarine base at Rota, Spain, at the time. The crew of a Spanish fishing boat said they saw it strike the sea and burst into flames.

The names of the 10 crewmen were withheld pending notification of next of kin.

2 Soldiers Die In Alaska

SEALE, Ala. (AP) — An Air Force plane carrying 43 student paratroopers to a jump zone made a crash landing into a field Monday. Two men were killed and 11 injured, the Army said.

The C19 plane, with a crew of four, plopped into a cultivated field and burned after one of its engines failed. One victim was trapped in the flames, the other died from crash injuries.

Six of the 11 persons were hospitalized.

Rocky, Barry Grab Primary Votes Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller seek votes Tuesday in two primary elections, but their eyes are on the test coming up Friday in Oregon.

And Goldwater, senator from Arizona, is the only presidential contender on the ballot in Nebraska's GOP primary. Write-in vote campaigns have been waged for Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge and, belatedly, for Rockefeller and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Write-in votes are not counted in West Virginia. With no opposition there, Rockefeller was busy campaigning in Oregon.

Goldwater, who cut down his Oregon campaigning last month, scheduled a one-day campaign swing in Nebraska.

With no major contests between presidential hopefuls or candidates for other offices, Republican voter turnouts in both states are expected to be fairly light.

The 14 Republican convention delegates to be chosen in West Virginia's primary are not bound by the outcome of the preference vote, and they are not slated or pledged to any candidate.

Six district delegates will be chosen in Nebraska, and they likewise are not bound to the primary winner, although most of the delegate-candidates have said they favor Goldwater. Ten at-large delegates will be chosen at a state convention June 1.

Voters in both states also will choose delegates to the Democratic convention.

State News Roundup

ACLU Fights Obscenity Rap

NEW YORK (UPI) — The American Civil Liberties Union said Monday it would ask the United States Court of Appeals in Philadelphia to reverse the obscenity conviction of Ralph Ginzberg, publisher of Eros magazine.

The petition is to be filed Tuesday at Philadelphia, the ACLU said.

Ginzberg was sentenced to five years in prison and fined $28,000 following his conviction in U.S. District Court in June, 1963 for distributing through the mails the publications "Eros," "Liaison" and the "Housewife's Handbook on Selective Promiscuity."

The ACLU brief states that it is not clearly known whether harm actually results from exposure of obscenity and that "limitations on freedom of speech or the press because of obscenity are unjustified."

The action asks the court to "re-establish that the only permitted limitations on freedom of speech and press are where the utterances present a clear and present danger bringing about an evil which the state has a right to project."

FBI Arrests Accused Slayer

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—FBI agents in Miami, Fla., arrested a 37-year-old paroled Philadelphia slayer Monday on a fugitive warrant charging flight to avoid prosecution for murder.

Charles S. Gindle was picked up in downtown Miami and held in the Dade County jail pending his return to Philadelphia to stand trial for the gun slaying of an automobile dealer last Feb. 15 during a robbery.

Capt. Joseph Golden of the homicide squad said Gindle has agreed to waive extradition. He said the city will send a warrant to Miami charging Gindle with killing Nicholas R. Tiscio, 49, of Bethlehem, Pa.

Tiscio was slain, Golden said, when he came to Philadelphia to talk to a man about buying a truck.

Oldest Hospital

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Pennsylvania Hospital, the nation's oldest, celebrated its 213th anniversary Monday with a party for 213 employes who have 10 or more years of service.

Mulette Born In Philly

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The children's zoo at Philadelphi's Zoological Gardens Monday has "Little Jack", born to a shetland pony and fathered by a Sardinian donkey.

Fred Ulmer, curator of mammals, said such breeding usually produces a mule. But "Little Jack" is smaller than his parents "so we decided their offspring must be a mulette."

Ulmer said "Little Jack," born Sunday, won't grow any higher than 40 inches at the shoulder "but we think he's cute."

Sports Stadium Aid For Philly

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The city of Philadelphia said Monday it will reapply for a $4 million federal subsidy to aid in construction of a new sports stadium over the Pennsylvania Railroad's tracks at 30th and Market streets.

The federal Urban Renewal Administration has questioned the eligibility of the stadium for a redevelopment subsidy.

The PRR is proposing to build a $25 million stadium on stilts. The $4 million subsidy it seeks would purchase air rights over the tracks. It is this subsidy that is holding up final approval of the project.

Ike To Return To Gettysburg

PALM DESERT, Calif. (AP) —Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower plans to leave Monday for his farm at Gettysburg, Pa., after spending a winter vacation at this desert resort.

Eisenhower and his wife Mamie will board the train at nearby San Bernardino and will arrive at Gettysburg Thursday.

The Eisenhowers have spent the winter here for the past three years. They have been here since last Dec. 17.

Push yard tools up and down in a pail of sand mixed with lubricating oil before putting them away. The sand will scrape off dirt, while the oil provides a protective film preventing rust.

Lobby Groups Pressured Tax Bill Most In '63

By Congressional Quarterly

WASHINGTON — Lobbyists flocked to the tax bill like flies to honey during 1963. In its annual study of major lobbying activities, Congressional Quarterly found that the most intensive pressures on Congress last year involved tax cuts and reforms.

Civil rights, the Test Ban Treaty and the wheat referendum also figured prominently in 1963 pressure group activity.

As finally signed into law Feb. 26, the Revenue Act of 1964 met general approval from a wide variety of organizations. Few groups, however, were entirely satisfied.

Some were disappointed with the distribution of tax relief; others had unsuccessfully sought or opposed particular reforms. Conservatives wanted the tax cut to be accompanied by reduced spending, and some of them opposed the bill for that reason. Groups whose lobbying centered on provisions affecting their special interests had uneven success.

Economic Theory

At one level, the lobbying battle was conducted in terms of economic theory. Most supporters of the bill agreed that reduced taxes would stimulate the economy, but some, especially labor unions, emphasized cuts for lower income groups to raise consumption while others, especially business lobbies, sought relief for middle and upper income groups to encourage investment.

Most business groups, opposed in principle to deficit financing, wanted the tax cut to be offset by reduced spending. Business groups continued their support for the bill despite the projected deficit for fiscal 1965, but the American Farm Bureau Federation and the National Grange opposed the tax cut without further measures to balance the budget.

Special Interests

While supporting the general tax cut, which promised savings to all groups, lobbies were especially active in taking care of their specialized interests.

The oil industry's successful defense of its depletion allowance against liberal criticism and the automobile lobbyists' victory in maintaining gasoline tax deductions were prominent among the struggles over particular provisions of the bill.

Labor achieved a victory in softening a reform that increased taxation of sick pay.

Typical of the many and varied special interest lobby activities were unsuccessful efforts by the National Restaurant Assn. to repeal the cabaret tax and restrictions on expense account deductions.

Unusual lobby unity was shown in the almost universal opposition to an Administration proposal to restrict itemized income tax deductions to amounts over 5 percent of the taxpayer's income. The proposal never got off the ground.

Sometimes special interests clashed. For example, the National Tax Equality Assn., representing commercial banks, sought to increase the tax burden on competitive savings and loan banks. The United States Savings and Loan League, meanwhile, successfully opposed a bill which would have allowed commercial banks to extend the maximum term of their real estate mortgages.

Ideological Issues

The principal ideological efforts by lobbies in 1963 involved civil rights and the Test Ban Treaty.

Seventy-seven Negro, religious, labor and citizens groups coordinated their support for the civil rights bill through the Leadership Conference on Civil Rights. A new organization, the Coordinating Committee for Fundamental American Freedoms, was set up in 1963 to oppose the bill.

A new coordinating committee was also set up to support the Test Ban Treaty. The Citizens Committee for a Nuclear Test Ban conducted a nationwide campaign through newspapers and pamphlets to secure Senate ratification of the Treaty, and disbanded when their object was achieved. The Treaty received support from a variety of other organizations, especially religious groups

Wheat Referendum

Congress was not the immediate object of the most important farm lobbying in 1963. With a vigorous national campaign, the American Farm Bureau Federation defeated, in a May 21 referendum, the Kennedy Administration's program to increase sharply controls on wheat planting and marketing. The referendum's defeat was a major setback for the National Farmers Union and the National Grange.

In the field of transportation, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen suffered a sharp disappointment when Congress passed emergency legislation providing arbitration for the railroads' work rules dispute. A lobbying battle continued to build up over transportation rate regulation, involving the railroads, truckers and barge lines.

Educational groups were generally pleased with new legislation for college, vocational and medical education. The religious issue over aid to church-related schools was not as prominent during 1963 as in other years.

Because 1963 was only the first year of the 88th Congress, the success or failure of lobby efforts was often uncertain. On some issues, such as medicare, pressures which were building last year may increase as the election approaches. The poverty program also promises to arouse major lobbying activity in 1964.

Radio Hit For Lack Of Imagination

BUCK HILL FALLS, Pa. (AP) —An official of the National Association of Broadcasters said Monday lack of imagination and courage in program planning has resulted in the loss of a whole segment of the radio listening audience.

Sherril W. Taylor, NAB vice president, told the Pennsylvania Association of Broadcasters here, in a prepared speech there is a "lack of guts and creativity in radio programming" in certain areas of the industry.

Taylor said that since 1952 AM radio stations increased by 78 per cent. At the same time, the amount of advertising revenue going into AM radio increased only 33 per cent.

"There's a whole segment of radio listeners that have been lost and could be wooed back with new and exciting sounds from our radio stations," Taylor said.

Taylor said that during the next 10 years it has been estimated that "advertising expenditures will double in this country." He added:

"Along with our intensified sales effort, we must also improve our product through some even bolder experimentation in radio programming," he said.

In other action Peter Roberts, who has been speaking for The Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania for twenty consecutive years on radio stations throughout the state, was honored by the company today at the annual convention of the Pennsylvania Association of Broadcasters.

In recognition of his long service, believed to be the oldest such advertiser-announcer affiliation in the industry, he received an engraved memento from H. T. Inman, Bell Company public relations vice president, at a luncheon meeting.

Chester Aims At Wallace

Stanley E. Branche, head of the Committee for Freedom Now CFN, said the trip was in return for the help given by Mrs. Gloria Richardson, Negro leader in Cambridge, for her efforts during the Chester demonstrations. Mrs. Richardson was arrested here along with hundreds of other persons during six weeks of public protests of alleged de facto school segregation.

Appeals were to be filed in the Delaware County Court of Common Pleas in behalf of 141 persons convicted of violating city ordinances during demonstrations last month.

The appeals must be filed within 20 days of sentence or those free in bail would be rearrested. Attorneys said Monday was the final day for some of the demonstrators.

Harrisburg -- Mecca For School Kids

HARRISBURG (AP) — Pennsylvania's Capitol echoes these spring days to the patter of little feet. Thousands of them.

Legions of school children are bounding through the marbled halls like herds of gazelle fleeing the hunter. In this case the hunter usually is a man wearing the commodore uniform of the Capitol Guide Corps.

Actually, the guide is more like a horseless cowboy charged with the task of keeping the herd moving in one direction, whooping up the stragglers and roping in the strays, all to the accompaniment of a spiel with folk-song overtones.

Kids pour into the house of government by the busload. As likely as not they will get a short lecture from Gov. Scranton, himself, or some other dignitary wandering by.

This week the governor emerged once again from his office. ("In artistic beauty the walls and furnishings of the governor's suite are the finest in the Capitol," says the 1929 guide book.)

Scranton told a battalion of youngsters in his reception room that the Capitol itself is worth seeing, though "generally speaking the decor of the period was not in good taste."

He told the children to look carefully at everything but the reception room rug because "unfortunately it's gone to pieces." ("It was made on a special loom that was afterwards destroyed to avoid duplication," says the old guidebook. And a good thing, too, say those who have stumbled over its 60-by-21-foot dimensions and 1,200 pounds of weight).

The governor asked the youngsters for questions. In awe of their lecturer, the youngsters were silent. With a reassuring smile, the governor again solicited questions. Finally a little girl asked:

"Should a woman be president?"

"Certainly,' said Scranton, "why not?"

He eulogized womanhood and added that the active presidential candidacy of Maine's Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, a fellow Republican, was a "good waker-upper" for American politics.

The teachers on deck maintained their equanimity in the face of "waker-upper." After all, they probably realized, he only coins such phrases when he doesn't have a proper word to use like "supposititious" or "aegis."

Scranton put the lecture in focus with the admonition "i don't care who you vote or who you vote for — except communists, or course, but when you get to be 21, please vote."

The kids promised they would.

Earlier the governor and Mrs. Scranton greeted youngsters of the fourth grade of Harrisburg Academy, including their son Peter.

Mrs. Scranton bravely brandished a live lobster for the youngsters. The lobster, peering somewhat apprehensively at the fourth graders, was docile in the hands of the first lady. It was a gift from the governor of Maine.

Then a uniformed guide took the youngsters in tow. They all went to the House of Representatives.

"Want to tell you about the marble," said the guide. "this marble comes from France. Only other place you find this marble is in King Solmon's Temple."

The marble is split so as to form patterns like the familiar Rorschach ink blot test used to test one's mental equipment.

"See the tulips??" asked the guide. "There's a cow. My favorite is this scotty dog." Between them the guide and the youngsters saw two black kittens, a monkey, chipmunks, butterflies and Santa Claus.

A myopic reporter hovering at the fringe of the group failed to see the items, his eyes veiled, no doubt, by professional cynicism or a feeble imagination.

House Speaker W. Stuart Helm and Rep. Harold B. Rudisill, D-York, discussed the workings of government with more than 400 youngsters in the House chamber.

Helm displayed his king-sized gavel, said to have been an old croquet mallet. He told the youngsters the mallet "takes a lot of abuse."

Democrat Rudisill described Helm, GOP candidate for auditor general this fall, as "one of the nicest individuals in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania." He added:

"All who agree clap."

There was clapping, but it seemed as if a great many kids were looking at the House decorations. There, 24 mural maidens dance eternally in a circle depicting "the passage of the hours"—always too slow in the springtime at the Capitol.

Newsweek Picks Barry On 1st Ballot

NEW YORK (AP) — Newsweek magazine reports a survey shows Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., has all but clinched the Republican presidential nomination.

The magazine said its correspondents polled party chieftains and delegates in every state and found Goldwater is likely to get 591 first-ballot delegates at the San Francisco nominating convention. To win the prize, 655 delegates are needed.

In a story in the May 18 issue, on sale Tuesday, Newsweek reports: "Scores of the 468 delegates. . technically or genuinely uncommitted would be happy to clamber aboard a Goldwater bandwagon should one get under way on the opening ballots."

Monroe-Pike Planning Merger Under Discussion

STROUDSBURG — John Mills, chairman of the Monroe County Planning Commission, and Montgomery F. Crowe, a member, yesterday discussed the possibility of a joint Monroe-Pike planning group before the county commissioners.

The commissioners — John Price, Stanley Rader, and Stuart Pipher — heard Crowe broach the subject.

The joint commission might be set up with the idea of saving money and integrating the planning efforts of the two counties which are both to share in the Tocks Island Dam Project.

John Mills began the session by noting that the commission has decided that the time has come to start seeking a director for a salary of from $8,000 to $9,000 per year.

"The director," Mills said, "would determine our objectives, prepare our applications, and work with the county commissioners. In later years we could add a clerk-stenographer and draftsman."

Could Join Together

Solicitor Russell Mervine said that since the county has appointed an added draftsman recently, the county mapping office might work with the planning commission.

It was noted that the commissioners have $2,500 budgeted for the planning commission this year.

"The state would pay two-thirds of the cost of a director," former state Senator Crowe then said. "In Columbia County, the county only pays $700-$800 for its director and the state pays the rest.

"We thought perhaps we could join with Pike County and save some money on both sides. Northampton and Lehigh Counties are consolidating their planning commissions; Lancaster and Lebanon Counties have gotten together. We thought perhaps the commissioners could approach Pike County with the idea," Crowe said.

"We have some joint problems with them — Bushkill will be flooded, the dam will probably be constructed, etc."

Crowe also said that the commission wants to be certain of state rights-of-way around thruway interchanges — they want the exact amount of land falling under the state jurisdiction clarified.

Chairman Rader, back on the board for the first time in a month without a neck brace, said, "We'd like township solicitors or supervisors to attend planning meetings."

Solicitor Mervine then made a plea for realism in the activities of planning bodies. He said "it's better to plan realistically than to plan for a road where there are few people."

Chairman Rader then said "I wonder if Monroe is big enough to handle alone all the plans for developments here. We might consider over-all planning with Pike, Northampton, Lehigh and Carbon Counties."

Mills then said, "After we explore the possibility of consolidating with Pike County, we will submit a budget to you. If you approve it, we would contact John Hertz of the state government for assistance in finding a qualified planning director."

The board agreed that Mills should explore the Pike proposal and report back.

Pin Ball Machine Owners, Diner Operators Fined $3,300

STROUDSBURG — Three pin ball machine owners were placed on probation for one year yesterday in Monroe County Court and along with proprietors of five area diners were fined a total of $3,300 on charges of conspiring to establish a gambling place.

The eight pleaded nolo contrendre—or no contest to the charges—before President Judge Fred W. Davis. James R. Marsh, Monroe County district attorney, presented the commonwealth's cases.

Involved in the proceedings were Giovanni B. Dalessio of East Stroudsburg, Philip Sabatine of Saylorsburg and Hugo Brozetti of Scranton, all machine owners.

Also diner owners Grover I. Hay of Tannersville, Laurel Diner in Tannersville; Clarence Smith of Scotrun, Johnson's Diner in Scotrun; Floyd E. Koehler of Stroudsburg, Koehler's Diner in Stroudsburg; Allan B. Besecker of Snydersville, Besecker's Diner in Snydersville, and John J. Prezkop of Brodheadsville, West End Diner in Brodheadsville.

Sentences Suspended

Sabatine and Brozzetti were fined $650 apiece plus court costs and sentenced to a year in jail on each of two counts. The sentences were suspended upon payment of the fines and costs and the men were placed on probation for a year. The sentences are to run concurrent for both men.

Dalessio was fined $350 and costs and his one year jail sentence was suspended and he was placed on probation for a year.

Smith, Koehler and Besecker were fined $350 and costs and Prezkop and Hay were fined $300 and costs.

Judge Davis also ordered the eight pin ball machines involved confiscated and destroyed. The money found in the machines was turned over to the county.

Atty. Walter Olenick of Stroudsburg, who represented all the defendants except Brozzetti, pleaded with the court for lenency.

"All these names are of men who are solid, substantial, law abiding citizens of Monroe County. Not one has ever been indicted or arrested for any crime. In none of these cases has there been a complaint of gambling.

"I see no difference in playing this pinball bingo than in playing bingo on some other premisis. This crime does not constitute a serious moral offense," Olenick contended.

Atty. Paul McGlone of Scranton, appearing for Brozzetti, said his client was in the process of selling his pinball machines when the raid on the diners was made by state police.

In another case, the sentencing of Earl W. Minks of Tannersville was deferred until today at 1:30 p.m. Minks pleaded guilty to drunken driving.

A jury of five men and seven women was empaneled to hear a case against Daniel Rosenthal of Levittown, Pa., who has been indicted on charges of fradulently obtaining insurance.

Rosenthal, through his attorney, John Pentz of Stroudsburg, pleaded not guilty and the case was adjourned until this morning at 9:30. State Trooper Stanley Komosinsky, from the Hazelton barracks, is the arresting officer.

17 Persons Naturalized

STROUDSBURG — Seventeen area persons became naturalized United States citizens yesterday in a ceremony in the Monroe County Courthouse in Stroudsburg. President Judge Fred W. Davis bestowed the honor on the group.

Meeting all the requirements of citizenship were Richard and Dagmar Matos of Delaware Water Gap, John and Helya Viebrok of Tobyhanna RD 1, Michael Ajygin of 219 Analomink St., East Stroudsburg, Margaret Zimmerman of 874 N. Ninth St., Stroudsburg, Renate Whiting of Saylorsburg RD 2, Bertram and Rose Carrol of Matamoras and Wilfrud Eva King of East Stroudsburg RD 2, all born in Germany.

Also Violet Shepard of Dingmans Ferry, born in Nova Scotia; Margaret Mary Gilliard of 4 Spangenberg St., East Stroudsburg, born in Ireland, and Anna Marie Schmitt of Stroudsburg RD 1, born in Yugoslavia.

Cadets To Drill

STROUDSBURG — The Lambert Cadets Junior Drum and Bugle Corps will practice every Tuesday from 6 to 9 p.m. at the Thomas P. Lambert Post 2540, VFW, in Stroudsburg.

There will be no practice on Saturday.

Grass Fire

MOUNTAINHOME — Barrett Twp. volunteer firemen were summoned yesterday at 3:10 p.m. to the home of Herbert Larsen to extinguish a grass fire.

TB Survey Scheduled

STROUDSBURG — The Monroe County Tuberculosis and Health Society, in conjunction with the state Division of Tubercular Control, will conduct chest x-ray surveys in the boarding and nursing homes of Monroe County Tuesday and Wednesday, May 12 and 13.

Scheduled for Tuesday are Pleasant Valley Manor, 8:45 to 9:45 a.m.; Kresge's Nursing Home, 10:15 to 11:15 a.m.; Cherry Valley Nursing Home 1 to 2 p.m.; Mannix Nursing Home, 2:30 to 2:45 p.m., and Marment Nursing Home, 3 to 3:30 p.m.

The Wednesday schedule is Laurel Manor, 9 to 9:45 a.m.; Flyte's Boarding Home, 10 to 10:30 a.m., and Price's Home for the Aged, 11:15 to 11:30 a.m.

The bedside unit uses 14 by 17 inch film and in the past two years has discovered two active cases locally. This survey discovers 6 per cent of the active cases in the older aged group.

Fuel Tax Applications Of 4 Townships Surveyed

STROUDSBURG — The Monroe County Commissioners yesterday discussed liquid fuel tax applications from four townships.

To date, Eldred, Stroud, Jackson and Chestnuthill Townships have submitted roadwork plans which would be eligible for liquid fuel allotments.

The commissioners noted that they do not know how much money they will receive from the state to dole out under the liquid fuels program, but that they will be working on a 70 per cent basis.

This means that the county will keep 30 per cent of the liquid fuels money to use on county bridges and to keep the fund solvent.

In other business, a letter from the Army Corps of Engineers was read concerning the Carbon County Beltsville Dam.

The letter stated that there is a county bridge which normally is not affected by the water storage from the dam, but that once in 16 years it is estimated, the water would back up one mile into Monroe.

It is also estimated that once in 100 years the water would cover the county bridge to a depth of three feet.

The county commissioners decided no action was necessary.

A total of 1.2 acre sat pleasant Valley Manor will be placed under the soil bank plan this year, the commissioners announced. The county will be reimbursed $179 for the lost wheat production, under the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture soil bank plan.

The state Dept. of Agriculture wrote the commissioners and said that it would pay half the cost of barberry eradication in the county. The board decided there was no barberry problem in the county.

A letter from Hemphill, Noyes, and Co., a New York actuarial firm, was read, requesting permission to talk with the board about the county pension fund.

The board decided to tell the firm that it was satisfied with the work being done on the fund by the current actuaries, Huggins and Co. of Philadelphia.

Charles Jones of the Children's Aid Society gave the board the society's monthly report.

He reported that at the beginning of April, 10 family inquiries were received, four were under study, and 12 new applications had been received.

At the end of April, five were not accepted, three were completed, five were accepted, one was placed under study, and nine were pending.

For children served during April, 13 children were under care at the beginning of the month, 11 were accepted, making a total of 184 children served during the month.

Four were discharged, making a current caseload of 180 children and 53 families.

Of disposition of children, 44 were in boarding homes, one in a free foster home, six under private adoption study care, three were in out-of-county care, six were under institutional care, one was in the Hershey school, one infant was in St. Joseph's Hospital, and 92 children were in their own homes under protective care from 19 families.

Rev. Luther Markin gave recommendations to the board concerning the new addition to Pleasant Valley Manor. He said that the addition of a fireplace in the building would lend a "homey" touch. "I'm sure someone would donate a fireplace as a memorial if you can't afford one," he said.

Salaries Increased

Warren Loney, county treasurer, joined the commissioners and the four men sat as the salary board.

Alma Metzgar had her salary for work in the jail increased from $35 to $50 per week; Beatrice Lotts, a cook in the jail, had her salary set at $65 per week.

James Price, a custodian in the courthouse, had a salary of $70 per week set, and Sanford Close, replacing Arthur Altemose in the jail, had a salary of $62 per week set.

The board was told that Dr. John Abbruzzese was willing to remove trash from the attic of the county superintendent of schools' office at 509 Scott St. in Stroudsburg if the county would supply the truck.

The commissioners decided to check the building to see if it needs painting.

Marvin Abel and Mrs. Catherine Miller of Civil Defense met with the board and discussed changes to the new CD offices being built in the courthouse basement.

Abel noted that a bill for $10,875 from Harvey Huffman, contractor, had already been received, and that metal shelving would be preferred to wooden shelving in the basement. Also, the second floor ladies' room in the courthouse will be made into a public ladies' room.

Witness Says Hotel Work Lagging

STROUDSBURG — During the opening round of the legally complicated Monatt, Inc. and Donald Trueheart proceedings yesterday, a Stroudsburg contractor said construction and renovation at the American House Hotel cannot be completed by a June 1 deadline.

The testimony of Charles Frank was given at a hearing at which Monatt is trying to stop Trueheart from interfering with the contracted work at the hotel at 777 Main St., Stroudsburg.

Monatt, Inc., headed by Samuel Monatt and Edward Katz, owns the hotel. Trueheart is operating the hotel's restaurant and claims he has an oral lease to continue the operation.

Yesterday President Judge Fred W. Davis heard testimony concerning a temporary injunction Monatt is seeking against Trueheart.

Frank claimed Trueheart has stopped his workmen from entering the building to make renovations to the interior and to continue construction of an addition that is being erected next door.

Under questioning by Atty. Walter Olenick, Monatt's lawyer, Frank said the work will not be completed until July if he was allowed to state work today.

On cross examination, Frank told Atty. James Marsh, who represents Trueheart, he allowed his men to enter the building after he had what he thought was a conversation with Marsh.

Frank testified he spoke into a speaker in Samuel Monatt's office and thought he was speaking to Marsh. Frank claims the person's voice, which he took to be Marsh's, said it was alright for him to enter the restaurant to start work.

Sharp Exchange

In a sharp exchange Marsh asked Frank if he ever told anyone "Trueheart's lawyer had sold him out." Frank denied he ever made such a statement.

Also on the stand yesterday was John Michael of Allentown, an architect engaged by Monatt, Inc. to design the construction work.

He said final plans for the construction and renovation were started Dec. 4, 1963 and completed this Jan. 15.

Trueheart claims his oral lease was given Jan. 1, 1964.

Judge Davis, who will be tied up by trying criminal cases today, adjourned the hearing to a date to be announced.

'Vending Machines' Cause Coin Shortage

STROUDSBURG — A coin shortage on the national level has affected The Daily Record coverage area. However, most of the banks in the region feel that it will correct itself now that the mint at San Francisco, Calif., as well as the mints in Philadelphia and Denver, Col. have started production on a 24-hour basis.

Bankers in the area attribute the shortage to the "many vending machines now in use."

Clifford Cramer, assistant cashier at East Stroudsburg National Bank, yesterday said, "We are not pressed as yet, but our reserve is not what it should be. We are lucky in that the coins from the Delaware Water Gap Toll Bridge come into the bank. We have been selling some of the quarters to other banks in the area.

Piggy Banks

"People in the area could help the shortage if they would deposit the coins they are saving in piggy banks and other small type banks, in the home."

Howard Merring, president of First Stroudsburg National Bank, said, "There is not a critical shortage here although we can not say that we can fill completely the orders of all our customers. We have been able to purchase some coins from other institutions but not enough to build up a reserve.

"We order coins from the federal reserve bank in Philadelphia every week. Sometimes we order 5,000 of a particular coin and only get 2,000 from the reserve bank. This is not our fault.

"I believe the shortage, here as well as on the national level, is due to the ever increasing number of vending machines in operation.

"The coin demanded the most is the quarter, but as I have said, we have been fortunate to be able to purchase some from other institutions in the area."

Mrs. Ruth Renfer, head teller at Monroe Security Bank and Trust Co. in Stroudsburg, said, "I believe the shortage of coins is due to the large number of vending machines in operation and that the mint in San Francisco, Calif., had been shut down.

Dimes Missing

"One thing we have found is that several stores in Stroudsburg have not been using dimes in their cash registers. If your purchase amounted to 45 cents and you gave the clerk a dollar most of the time your change would be a quarter and six nickels."

W. W. Horn, president of the First National Bank in Bangor, said, "Yes, we have a shortage of coins, but I do not feel that it is anything to be alarmed about. The federal mints have started production on an around - the-clock basis and it will only be a matter of time until there is a surplus of coins.

"In our bank the biggest demand has been for nickles and quarters. We have been able to purchase some of these. In fact some of our customers have deposited coins to keep the bank from being short on coins."

Careful Distribution

Stanley Reiter, cashier at First National Bank in Pen Argyl, said, "We have no shortage of coins at the present moment. We have been careful on our distribution and will no doubt remain careful until the Federal government builds up a surplus."

"There is no particular shortage at the West End Branch of the First National Bank of Palmerton," Earl R. Silliman, cashier said yesterday.

County Certifies Official Vote Count

STROUDSBURG—The Monroe County Commissioners yesterday certified official vote totals from the county primary held on April 28.

The only change in the official totals from the unofficial totals released earlier was a switch from 2,581 to 2,571 for Judge Robert Woodside, Republican candidate for Superior Court Judge.

Parke Unangst officially beat Mary Fontanella for GOP state committeeman, 1,546 to 1,531.

Blatt 2,675 to 772

Genevieve Blatt carried Monroe County 2,675 to 772 for Michael Musmanno for the Democratic spot on the November ballot for U. S. Senator.

In Barrett Twp., John Nauman lost to Robert Quinn by one vote for committeeman, 180 to 189.

H. John Davis totalled an official 2,028 votes to 1,169 for John Ferrebee in the race for the GOP nomination for general assemblyman.

Harvey's Pond Purchased By Daltons Of Canadensis

STROUDSBURG — Fritz and Margaret Dalton of Canadensis have bought Harvey's Pond — otherwise known as Lake Watawga — plus about 175 acres of land in Lehigh Twp. in Wayne Co. and Coolbaugh Twp. in Monroe Co. for $85,000.

The lake covers 125 acres and is almost surrounded by timber, according to Dalton. It was once a fine source of ice, harvested by the old Gouldsboro Ice Co.

Dalton did not say what he planned for the lake, but said that "it is one of the most beautiful in the Poconos." He bought the land and lake from Mildred B. Lauderbaugh of Forty-Fort, Pa.

The deed was recorded yesterday in the office of Mrs. Jeannette F. Batory, Monroe County recorder.

Other Deeds

Other deeds were Stanley J. Van Vliet Jr. and the Northeastern Pennsylvania National Bank and Trust Co., executors of the last will and testament of the late Margaret A. Van Vliet of Barrett Twp., to Margaret and Thomas Evernon of Nazareth RD 1, property in Barrett Twp.

Also William C. and Nancy L. Miller of East Stroudsburg RD 2, to Eli and Margaret Berman of Stroud Twp., property in Stroud Twp.; Arthur L. and Margaret E. Brown of Stroud Twp. to Domenico and Clementina Frada of East Stroudsburg RD 3, property in Stroud Twp.

Also Thelma Brode and Elsie estate of the late William A. Wrick of Tunkhannock Twp. to Raymond and Darlene Pauff of Tunkhannock Twp., property in Tunhannock Twp.

Rights Bill Myths

Despite the long filibuster against the civil rights bill in the U. S. Senate, the legislation is not half as strong as whites fear or as Negroes would like.

The misinterpretations, distortions and outright lies about the contents of the bill are fantastic.

Alabama Governor George C. Wallace has attracted a surprising number of Northern white votes by scaring his audiences with deliberate untruths about the legislation.

Among the myths he has spread are that the civil rights bill forces whites to sell their houses to Negroes, that it forces bussing of school children long distances to integrate schools, that it cheats union members of job seniority, that it forces businessmen to keep records on the race, color and religion of all employes to prove non-discrimination, and that the bill gives federal bureaucrats tyrannical power.

In fact, none of this is true.

There is no housing section, nothing forcing anyone to sell a house to anybody. The public accommodations section forbids discrimination in public businesses including hotels, motels, restaurants, movies, sports stadiums and gasoline stations. Rooming houses with resident owners renting five or fewer rooms are exempt.

The House specifically amended the school desegregation title to say that "desegregation shall not mean the assignment of students to public schools in order to overcome racial imbalance." This limits the law's effect to Southern schools segregated by local or state law. Governor Wallace completely ignores these facts.

The Equal Employment Opportunity title is generally misunderstood and considered much more restrictive than it really is.

It does not mention union job seniority or employe records on race, color and religion. It would not lead to wholesale firing of whites to hire Negroes under job quotas.

This is Southern and conservative scare propaganda.

Employers, labor unions and employment agencies affecting interstate commerce and with 25 or more employes or members are prohibited by the bill from discrimination based on race, religion or color.

A five-man Equal Opportunity Employment Commission would investigate and attempt voluntary solution of complaints of job discrimination. If this fails, the commission could file suit in federal court for an order directing compliance with the law.

The court may or may not agree with the commission. The important fact here is that no "federal bureaucrat" will be able to force an employer to hire anyone, or keep special records.

In practice, the civil rights bill will have its greatest impact in the South.

Pennsylvania and 31 other states already have stronger public accommodation laws. Pennsylvania and 29 other states already have stronger anti-discrimination in jobs statutes.

False Southern propaganda against the bill is being swallowed too quickly by nervous Northerners who should laugh Governor Wallace out of the primaries in which he is getting substantial votes.

The civil rights bill should be passed without further weakening. It is shameful for the Congress to take more than a year to pass this just and reasonable bill.

J. Edgar Hoover's Weakness

J. Edgar Hoover celebrated 40 years as director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation on Friday and was lavishly complimented for his excellent police and investigative work.

This was justified in large measure since he has been the father and developer of many of the federal government's methods in the unending war on crime, and a vigorous crusader for morality in American life.

But this anniversary is also an appropriate time for Americans to remember that J. Edgar Hoover has exhibited one consistent weakness from his early days in Washington to today.

That is his tendency to see Communist conspiracies under every bed, in every closet, and in many legitimate public demonstrations.

He was the same in 1919 as he is in 1964—45 years later.

In 1919, A. Mitchell Palmer of Stroudsburg as U. S. Attorney General had established J. Edgar Hoover as chief of the General Intelligence Division of the Justice Department.

During a national railroad strike in 1920 in which unions asked for a minimum wage of $150 a month, time and a half for overtime and 20-minute lunch periods, Palmer and J. Edgar Hoover said the strike was part of a radical revolution and a world-wide Communist conspiracy.

Communists existed in the country, but they had little to do with that railroad strike. Similar lumping together of radicals, aliens and Communists led to the infamous "Palmer raids" in 1920 in which J. Edgar Hoover played a star role in arresting, detaining and trying to deport thousands of suspected aliens during a nation-wide Red scare.

The FBI chief was still at it, in a slightly milder form when he recently charged that the American civil rights movement is infiltrated with Communists.

It was the same old despicable scare tactic in which the few Communists who undoubtedly have taken advantage of Negro unrest in America were used to smear the whole legitimate protest.

Moderate Negro leaders, who should be commended for their restraint in the face of nation-wide denial of basic rights, were incensed.

But few newspapers or leaders of American public life bothered to criticize J. Edgar Hoover.

Comment Of The Day

"IT ISN'T the South that's delaying the civil rights bill. It's the 81 senators who do not live in the South.

"A minority can thwart the Senate as long as the majority stand around with jelly as a spine."

—Senator Hubert Humphrey, Minnesota Democrat and floor manager of the civil rights bill in the Senate.

Silver Buck Push

By George Dixon

Washington—Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield is in there fighting all the time for the comeback of the silver dollar. His cartwheel philosophy is that the buck argent should be revived not only to boost the economy of his big silver-producing State of Montana, but to make people feel the weight of riches.

The last silver dollar was minted in 1935, some time after George Washington threw one across the Rappahannock to allow succeeding generations of punsters to perpetuate the nifty that a dollar went farther in those days. But, as people and pocket linings grew weaker, most Americans stopped toting silver dollars, unless they were donating to Las Vegas. The result of this was that in 1963 the U. S. Treasury had 94 million on hand.

Then came the recent invasion of the coin collectors, looking for vintage cartwheels worth more than face value. When the rush on the Treasury subsided, the stock of silver dollars had dwindled from 94 million to 3 million.

When Senator Mansfield urged that they start making 'em again, he was besieged by would-be ghostwriters. They submitted all sorts of written arguments for him to use in plugging for cartwheel restoration.

These ghostly pitches were all mundane, never heavenly. At last, however, a religious argument has been proferred. From a prominent matron of Miles City, Mont. comes this lofty appeal:

"I play the piano for my church. I play a hymn during the offering, and I find it difficult to tell when the collection is completed as there is no longer the pleasant clink of the silver dollars."

* * *

The Russian Embassy celebrated Soviet Press Day by having members of the Washington press corps in for vodka and comestibles. If it wasn't the merriest gathering of the social season, it was at least the most gustative.

One pundit, who was still able to read, began looking over the books in Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin's bookcases. Suddenly the journalist let out a yelp as if he'd been lifted by his ears.

He pulled out a book and pointed to the title, crying: "The guy who wrote this must be a rich billionaire!" The title read:

"Leftwing Communism."

Modern Political 'Climb It'

The Pennsylvania Story

Preferred Foe?

By Mason Denison

HARRISBURG—Would you rather campaign against a man —or a woman?

This was a question we posed to U. S. Senator Hugh Scott the other day, who, as the GOP candidate will oppose either State Supreme Court Justice Michael Musmanno—or Secretary of Internal Affairs Genevieve Blatt (depending on the outcome of the count of the absentee ballots).

Affable, pipe-puffing Hugh Scott had the "right" answer; he wouldn't commit himself at this time!

We don't blame him for his non-committal stand, which by the way was assumed not specifically in the case of Miss Blatt or Justice Musmanno—but in the case of "any" man or woman.

In circumstances similar to that now enjoyed (?) by the junior senator from Pennsylvania, we too probably would not open our yap on the subject!

Nevertheless the possibility of Mr. Scott opposing (or being opposed by) Miss Blatt is an interesting one in several respects.

In the first place, major campaigns generally are conducted with the boxing ring stance; it's slug for slug—but how do you go about slugging a member of the fair sex? As any married male well knows, you just don't do it—and get away with it!

On top of this, Miss Blatt in all her campaigning (and she's been in on many a campaign war—with notable success) doesn't engage in even distaff slugging; personalities rarely enter her picture, but she can make a good, study speech (flower hats and all).

Her tea table sessions oftimes put the British to shame, and invariably are enjoyed by those who partake—male or female.

You can go on down the line like this with items heavily in favor of Miss Blatt as a member of the distaff side in seeking public office.

But how do you combat it? The venerable Justice Musmanno has found it quite tough indeed—as the unofficial vote with Miss Blatt in the lead clearly attests!

Small wonder then that Senator Scott isn't running around saying whether he would prefer to do battle with a lady or a gent—at least until he has to, and that won't be until the Democratic winner is finally known.

Should there be a Musmanno victory after all is said and done (insofar as the Primary results are concerned) there is every reason to believe that the contest for the senatorial seat now held by Mr. Scott will be a standard chin-jutting and punchy affair from beginning to end.

Mr. Musmanno has a penchant for producing quite a snappy verbal barrage as campaign needs demand—and indications are the campaign "needs" will be quite plentiful in this case.

As for Mr. Scott, he knows the campaign ropes; he won his senatorial spurs, it should be remembered, when the rest of the GOP slate in Pennsylvania was losing; his seemingly genteel digs with political barbs a foot long have placed him high in the realm of accomplished campaigners.

But stack all this against a woman—in this case Miss Blatt if she wins—and the picture assumed a somewhat different hue.

For example, the acid comments from the distaff side could come from a male (just as they did in the past Blatt-Musmanno tiff; in this instance from fellow Democratic U. S. Senator Joseph S. Clark) —and how do you campaign effectively against that?

Strategically the "slam" has been made for voter consumption by Senator Clark—not Miss Blatt—which carries the initial and critical punch.

Senator Scott replies in answer to the Clark lampoon (replies in kind, that is) while Miss Blatt continues merrily on her way—but you're not campaigning against Clark; it's Blatt!

Baseball Fans Are They

Tonight — weather permitting — baseball fans of the Poconos will bus it to the Quaker City to see the Phillies and St. Louis Cardinals perform at Connie Mack Stadium.

Leading the entourage is the rabid Phillie diehard — T. Manning (Cap) Curtis. The Stroud Union High School physical education instructor got the ball rolling last week. In no time he had a busload.

However, the riders are not those you'd expect to see munching a hot dog, popping a soda pop, or crunching a peanut shell. Take for example, tall, astute Judge John Kerner, the transplanted New Jersey representative and jurist. The judge honed up last week on the fundamentals of the game by listening to Mel Allen, Phil Rizzuto and Jerry Coleman give one-sided versions of New York Yankee games.

Now the judge is familiar with such terms as ball, strike, putout and home run.

Ernie Turtzo, the Slate Belt fellow who stock-breaks at 7th Street, Stroudsburg, and Jimmy Joseph, another stock man, also will be in the entourage. Neither knew Philadelphia had a team in the National League, but are willing to go to the Quaker City to find out for themselves.

Over the weekend Curtis' gang made preparations like kids awaiting their first trip to the big city. They steamed over coffee to direct a bus driver that wasn't there, and pick seats at a ballpark that was 92 miles away.

One wanted to go at 4 p.m., another at 5:30. They settled on 5 p.m. for a ball game that will start at 8 o'clock.

Now if the bus driver doesn't foul things up, and end up at Fairmount Park — the usual boo-boo for all drivers — the trip should be a howling success.

Curtis has promised to* return the men to the Poconos right after the game. However, there is a cause for alarm here. Joseph and Turtzo are sure to have a couple of good stock issues, while Curtis is never at a loss for words when it comes to investments.

Seriously, a good time is expected by all — even for the bus driver who will have to put up with 42 back seat drivers for approximately 184 miles.

The Allen-Scott Report

'Call Girls'

Paul Scott

WASHINGTON — State Department authorities are either amazingly uninformed or deliberately concealing the facts in claiming that their files do not contain documents showing that "call girls" were provided for Indonesia's President Sukarno during his 1956 visit to the U.S.

Not only do these highly explosive documents exist, but copies are now in the hands of Senate investigators who are probing the department's lax handling of its own homosexuals and security risks.

For the information of these State Department cover-uppers, the dates and names of the officials signing these documents are as follows:

Memorandum dated November 13, 1957 and classified "Secret" from Randolph A. Kidder, special assistant to the deputy undersecretary of state for administration, to Roderic L. O'Connor, deputy assistant secretary of state.

Attached copy of Bureau of Security & Consular Affairs report on Sukarno's visit, showing that "call girls" were provided for the Indonesian playboy ruler.

Letters dated November 1 and 4, 1957, to Loy W. Henderson, deputy undersecretary for administration, from Scott McLeod, then U.S. Ambassador to Ireland and former director of the Bureau of Security & Consular Affairs.

On February 21, this column exclusively reported that, "A congressional investigating committee is poring over some astounding State Department documents revealing that arrangements were made to supply Sukarno with what amounted to a harem of 'call girls' during his junkets to the U. S. . . . . "

The Denials — This sensational disclosure was followed by a barrage of official denials by State Department authorities, foremost among them Assistant Secretary Frederick Dutton, who handles the department's relations with Congress.

These carefully drafted denials were made in letters to members of Congress and indignant citizens outraged by this shocking scandal. At no time did any State Department officials get in touch with these writers, although they did launch an investigation to determine where this column obtained the information.

But because of the vehement refutations these denials encountered, the State Department is now issuing an unsigned denial in the name of the Office of Public Service, of the department's Bureau of Public Affairs, stating:

"The Department of State began an intensive investigation immediately upon publication of rumors concerning the alleged furnishing of call girls to a visiting foreign head of State.

"The Department's files have been thoroughly examined and contained nothing even remotely resembling the alleged 'State Department document' mentioned in the news story.

"All officers in the Department involved in any way with such visits were closely questioned, and all emphatically denied that they had ever participated in actions such as described in the news article, or that they would countenance such action on the part of any official of the U.S. government."

Significantly, the Bureau of Public Affairs is headed by Assistant Secretary Robert J. Manning, who in a major policy speech in Boston last week charged that the government is handicapped in carrying out its foreign policy because of what he called the unlimited freedom of the press to pry into and print government secrets.

Manning questioned the principle that "the people have the right to know" when the knowledge can compromise or affect the nation's foreign policy. The press, he claimed, "wants to know a great deal more than the people in whose name it acts."

The Sordid Details — One of the secrets Manning apparently believes should remain hidden from public view is the scandalous conduct of Sukarno during his trips to the U. S. and the State Department's own role in this shocking affair.

As reported in this column last February, the suppressed State Department report shows clearly that officials not only assisted in meeting Sukarno's demand for "call girls," but condoned his flouting of the Mann Act in taking them across state lines, stating:

"A representative of the Indonesian embassy approached the State Department regarding having women available for Sukarno. Sukarno wanted a Latin type, an American type, and a Nordic type woman available when he felt so inclined. State Department officials told . . . that they could not have anything to do with obtaining these women officially, but suggested . . . . . , a former FBI agent then engaged in private investigation business in Washington.

"X agreed to obtain the women for Sukarno. He contacted an inspector of the New York Police Department and wanted to arrange for himself and the girls to stay at the . . . hotel in rooms not too distant from Sukarno and his party. The inspector refused to involve the New York Police Department, despite assurances that the State Department approved. X and the prostitutes subsequently stayed at a hotel near where Sukarno and his party were staying."

Dear Abby

On Same Side!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Why do so many nice people with dogs have so little regard for their guests' comfort? When we visit these people, their dog jumps up on us the moment the door is opened. As soon as we sit down, the dog jumps up on the furniture right next to us. When we sit at the dining room table, the dog is under the table, with his nose on our legs. He even puts his paws up on the tablecloth, "begging" for food. (The master thinks nothing of feeding the animal from his hand, and then goes right on eating. Yich!) We love dogs, Abby, and have always had one. But when we entertain, our dog is not included with the guests. Do you agree with those who have the "Love us, love our dog" attitude? Or can you see our side of it?

THE "E's"

DEAR "E's": I can more 'than SEE your side of it—I'm ON it!

———

DEAR ABBY: With so much divorce and remarrying these days, isn't there some wedding etiquette for divorced parents of the bride and groom? Say the bride's parents are divorced and have both remarried but the bride wants her real father to give her away. Where does the father go to sit after he has given the bride away? Surely he doesn't go to sit with the bride's mother, who is sitting with her present husband! And if everyone is friendly, and the father's present wife is invited to the wedding, where does SHE sit? Should she be right up front with the relatives in the wedding party, and beside her husband at the head table at the wedding dinner?

NEEDS TO KNOW

DEAR NEEDS: The bride's mother and present family sit in the first pew. The bride's father, after giving away his daughter in marriage, then goes to sit with his present wife and family in the second pew. The father's present wife sits beside him at the wedding dinner.

DEAR ABBY: A young, rather pretty little married woman lives next door to me, and she is always telling me that a door-to-door salesman made a pass at her and she had to put him in his place. She claims the mailman, milkman and grocery man have also made improper advances to her, and she had to tell them off.

Abby, I have the same mailman, milkman, grocery man, and the same salesmen calling on me, and I have never had one speck of trouble with any of them. Do you think she is making all this up, or can it be true?

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: She's probably making it up. But if only a part of it is true, she should take a good look at herself in the mirror, and listen to herself talk.

Speaking Of Your Health:

Ought To Be Law For Seat Belts

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Can you imagine surviving an accident in which your car skidded off a mountain highway, plunged 60 feet into a canyon, hit a tree, and was completely demolished?

That is exactly what happened recently, to a well-known singer. He and his wife were driving in a brand new sports car when this serious accident occurred.

Not only did they survive, but they escaped with relatively little injury. Highway patrolmen said that their lives were undoubtedly saved because they were wearing seat belts.

This couple showed proper respect for the potential danger of any road at any time. They were properly rewarded.

Reduced Casualties

Each year, 5,000 lives could be saved in the United States, and serious injuries could be reduced by one-third — with the use of automobile safety belts.

These dramatic figures are issued by the National Safety Council and deserve the attention of every car owner in the world.

The public has been far too slow in taking advantage of one of the greatest contributions to safety since the advent of the automobile.

But not until the attachment of the belt will be as routine as closing the car door will the National Safety Council's projected figures of reduced casualties become a reality.

Legal Means Needed?

To accomplish this, many people feel that legal measures are necessary to enforce the use of seat belts.

Educational campaigns have helped tremendously, of course, and there are thousands of families who would not consider starting their car before everyone's seat belt is secured. They know that if there is an accident, they have a good chance of escaping with no injury at all.

But what about the others, who keep putting off the purchase of seat belts? Or the ones who have them, but neglect to use them?

Needless Exposure

Nobody would dream of taking a hot shower and then lying in a snow bank to catch pneumonia. Yet there are those who expose themselves just as needlessly to the possibility of painful, incapacitating accidents by refusing the helpful protection of a seat belt.

Parents can be a potent force in the seat belt campaign. They can make seat belts a "must rule" in the family car. They can insist that teenagers avail themselves of this protection, no matter how short the trip.

Parents also can suggest safety education programs in high schools and in organized social groups.

Stories Behind Words

by William S. Penfield

Shibboleth

"Shibboleth" — a watchword, slogan or pet phrase of a party — was originally the Hebrew name for an ear of corn. Its present meaning was derived from a story in the Bible. The story is told in the twelfth chapter of the Book of Judges.

The Ephraimites, or men of Ephriam, quarreled with Jephehah, the leader of the Gileadites. In the ensuing battle the Ephraimites were defeated. The Ephraimites who survived sought to flee across the Jordan River, but Jephtha had stationed soldiers at the fording places.

Any man who tried to cross the river was forced to say the word "shibboleth." This word was chosen because the Ephraimites could not pronounce the sound of "sh." Any man who pronounced the word "sibboleth" was slain, for the pronunciation identified him as an Ephaimite.

Just Between Us — —

—By Bobby Westbrook

Now I know what a ghost feels like sort of wistful at the starts of surprise, the look of disbelief he gets from every passer-by. In the week that I've been home everybody on the street or on the telephone blurts out: "You aren't home — you're in Yugoslavia."

The secret, of course, is that I got home before the columns I'd mailed got in the paper so I've felt both disconcerted and disembodied. But for a ghost my activities have been most mundane. Moving into the cottage at the river, finding out how to prime an electric pump, going to the World's Fair, and, above all, trying to catch up on all you've been up to on the social pages while I was gone.

One of the happy circumstances of this vacation is that I've been able to live through two springtimes in one year. A month ago, Yugoslavia was just at the stage we are now—heady with the scent of lilacs and appleblossoms, warm through the day, chilly by night. Every year ought to have two months of May-time.

And the most gratifying thing about being home is how interested you professed to be in my wanderings. The one compliment I mean to paste in my scrapbook was the editorial in the Morey School Times called "Welcome Home."

Home is where people speak the same language — not only with their mouths but with their hearts and minds which have been shaped by the same forces as your own. But the time was too short and I was too fascinated by the differences to be homesick.

Behind the surface observations, I did reach some deeper conclusions I'd like to tell you about sometime; if I ever catch up with you in this mad May dash to the end of the club year. It would be easy to tell you of the time we left our passports in Titograd; or the experience of cradling a three-foot two-foot gushla over 5,000 air miles; or a time-cost survey of foreign travel.

It's going to be harder to do features on what's happened to religion in Yugoslavia or the role of women in the People's Republics. Remind me, before I get too involved in watching the snad jumping in the Delaware, trying to identify strange birds, and our own sometimes strange behavior, that I owe you this much.

Awards Galore For Monroe Garden Club And Members

Stroudsburg—The Monroe County Garden Club has received a grant of $125 for their Laurel Manor project from the Civic Improvement Committee of the Garden Club Federation of Pennsylvania. Mrs. R. E. Hamblin announced the award, made possible by the Sears Roebuck and Co., at the meeting of the executive board at the YMCA.

The board authorized the planting of the porch box at Laurel Manor with geraniums and petunias in time for Mother's Day.

It was a day for awards:

Mrs. J. W. Robinson, chairman of the table of the month committee in the recent contest announced that Ernest Wyckoff had presented the club with a consolation award. She was assisted by Mrs. Elwood Grant.

Members Honored

Mrs. Grant was presented with an award of Merit by the National Wildlife Federation, Washington, D. C., and the Pennsylvania Federation of Sportsman's Club in recognition of her public service in the promotion of the 1963 National Wildlife Week.

Mrs. Robert James and Mrs. Russell E. Hamblin were honored at the Penn's Woods annual Tree Dedication at Bowman's Hill Wildflower Preserve at Washington Crossing State Park when a birch tree, presented by her husband and Mrs. Elwood Grant, was planted in honor of Mrs. Hamblin, who was instrumental in securing the club as a Trail Sponsor for the Poconos Laurel Trail; and another birch tree, presented by Mrs. Grant, to Mrs. James who helped to replace damaged laurel on the trail.

Reporting on the Laurel Trail, Mrs. Grant announced considerable damage to the laurel from deer browsing and announced that 17 clumps of trailing arbutus, gathered by Mrs. Grant and Russell Hamblin from state-owned land had been planted on the trail by botanists.

Rachel Carson Memorial

A contribution of $10 was voted by the board to the Rachel Carson Memorial Fund for research. Rachel Carson, biologist and writer, who died April 14, created a nation-wide furore about the dangers of man-made poisons in natural environments. The money will be used to sponsor research particularly into problems of insecticides.

Mrs. E. R. Travis, Mrs. Ernest Schwartz and Mrs. Jay Peters were named to work with the East Stroudsburg Beautification Committee.

Mrs. Elmer D. Christine, Mrs. J. W. Robinson and Mrs. Elwood Grant served as hostesses at the information center at Bowman's Hill on Monday, April 27. Hostesses are needed for June 27 at the Preserve.

Seeds For Sudan

Members were also asked to contribuute to the Seeds for the Sudan project as a salute to the courage of the Sudanese people who are being moved from their ancestoral homes by the rising water of the new dam on the Nile, the Garden Club Federation of Pennsylvania is sending a shipment of seeds of all kinds, with planting instructions in the vernacular, to be used to start the planting of new homes and farms. Mrs. J. W. Robinson, world gardening chairman, explained the project.

A trip to the World's Fair for members of the Garden Club will be held May 22. Reservations must be received by Mrs. Ernest Schwartz, transportation chairman by this Wednesday or Thursday. She announced that there are only a few seats left.

Two new members were accepted: Mrs. Clifford Kintner, sponsored by Mrs. Grant, and Mrs. Harry G. Rieger, first vice president of the state federation and a summer resident of Pocono Pines, sponsored by Mrs. Russell Hamblin.

Attending the meeting were Mrs. George M. Rung, president; Mrs. J. H. Lanterman, Mrs. Elwood Grant, Mrs. R. E. Hamblin, Miss Anna C. Courtright, Mrs. Edwin Treible, Mrs. Jay Peters, Mrs. Ernest Schwartz, Miss Grace DePue, Mrs. Edgar Van Why, Mrs. George T. Walker, Mrs. E. R. Travis, Mrs. J. W. Robinson, Mrs. Howard Clugston, Mrs. Bernard Peters, Mrs. Russell Harmon, Mrs. Vernon L. Wallace, Mrs. Leonard Hippler and Mrs. Thomas Shoesmith.

First Local Safari To Fair Reports Personal Findings

Stroudsburg—Monroe County went to the Fair on Saturday in force. The first major contingent, filling four buses to capacity set off with a heigh-ho and extra shoes for the World's Fair in Flushing Meadow, at 7 a. m., arriving a little after 11.

As they disembarked, a helicopter bearing President and Mrs. Johnson was landing on the heliport, and those who waited by the barrier, could watch the President's official cavalcade set off.

And that was the last they saw of the President—or each other until they re-embarked at 9:30 that night. Each separate group took off to visit its own separate goals and among the sprawling acres and multitudinous exhibits didn't even catch sight of each other all day.

Comparing impressions in the brief period between the time the bus started and everybody went to sleep on the homeward way, the following highlights emerged:

A few people with definite objectives, by dint of previous planning and a good fast pace, managed to see the Fair or as much of it as they wanted to see.

The great majority concentrated on particular sections and agreed that to see the Fair in its entirety would take from three days to three weeks depending on how thoroughly they wished to explore.

Visitors with children could report on the rides: The Swiss cable car ride across the entire Fair; the Monorail as the highlight of the amusement section; the outside elevator on the New York State building; and the ferris wheel in a tire.

Industrial Pop Spots

In the industrial division, the Ford Motor Co. tour of the centuries in a convertible and the General Motors exhibit were prime targets. Waiting lines stretching for blocks moved rapidly but one group reported waiting two hours for the General Motors trip, but managed to get in the Ford exhibit with only a 20-minute wait.

Others made the steep ascent on benches to the IBM circular room where, had their shoes shined at Johnson's or their hair color analyzed at Clairol. The one many people had heard good reports about but nobody had made, was the General Motors exhibit.

In the exhibit of states, the Alaska Pavilion provided a reunion with David Irwin of Seotrun who was there with his dog teams. Indiana, Land of Lincoln, had a variation of the horse-race starting gates to facilitate seating the guests for the automated Lincoln delivering one of his major addresses.

Handsomest of the foreign pavilions was that of Spain where Goya and Valesquez paintings were on exhibit. Other reported on were the Vatican pavilion with the Pieta viewed from a moving platform; the Lebanon Pavilion with a display of the Dead Sea Scrolls; the red and gold Thailand pagoda; the extensive Japanese and Indonesian pavilions; and the hodge podge bazaar of Hong Kong.

International Pavilions

The International pavilions varied greatly since some were sponsored by the government, some by private industries, and some by private industries with government sanction. They ranged from the impressive to the frankly commercial.

In the International Plaza shops World t ravelers could duplicate practically any souvenir they could have bought in every country.

The Belgian Village is the only major pavilion not completed. The United States pavilion was closed all day.

Experiences in food varied as much as the individuals who ate it from those who lived on hot dogs at 35 cents and coke at 25 to those who went for the foreign restaurants with floor shows beginning at a minimum of $5.

In summing up the comments from the fair-goers as they simmered down:

There were few complaints, even about the crowds, the cost, or the food, on which there had been earlier critical comments in the press.

There were crowds, but except at the more popular attractions there were no waiting lines. For the most part, the lines moved rapidly.

There are a great many free exhibits for which no charge is made. In cases where there is a charge, it is nominal except for the big shows: A dollar, for instance, for the Spanish art treasures; 50 cents for the Dead Sea Scrolls.

Remember Those Shoes

The food varied from good to fair and by eating at off hours, was served with a minimum of waiting and without queying up.

Some people advised a complete bus tour of the Fair at the beginning of the day; others preferred special tours by open glide-a-ride carts when weary feet and legs appreciated the rest.

Everybody agreed that comfortable shoes—two pairs, for changing midway—were as essential as money—maybe, even more so.

STROUDSBURG — Indiana State College yesterday won the seventh annual State Colleges golf championship at Glen Brook Country Club with a team total of 328.

Bob Wilkinson's 79 set the pace for the winners while Pete Greenawalt posted the high score for the team with an 85.

East Stroudsburg State College, placed in the favorite's role to gain its first links title, finished third with an aggregate score of 335.

Placing second was Mansfield which scored a 333 as John McNaney fired a 75 for low score among the individuals. He also banged in the only hole-in-one of the tourney on the 140-yard par 3 eighth hole, using a No. 8 iron. The ball fell into the hole on the second bounce.

Tops Warriors

Warren Landis paced the Warriors, shooting a 78 which placed him second among the top individual scorers. ESSC's Roger Stern and California's Tom DeRosa shared third-place honors following a sudden-death playoff when five players were tied with 79s after the regulation 18-hole meet.

The other three who competed in the playoff were Bob Wilkinson of Indiana, Bob Byler of Slippery Rock, and John Yoder of Lock Haven.

Bronze medals were awarded to both Stern and DeRosa.

Three Birdies

McNaney, besides his hole-in-one eagle, also birdied the 10th, 17th and 18th holes to capture top individual honors. Landis, his nearest competitor, failed to shoot any birdies but played a steady game all the way.

For McNaney, it was his second hole-in-one in his career. The 19-year-old sophomore scored his first ace two years ago at the Corey Creek Golf Club in Mansfield. He also had fired a 75 last Friday in match play against Lock Haven.

Stern, meanwhile, fired four birdies on the second, sixth, seventh and 14th holes, but erratic play in between placed him one shot behind teammate Landis and forced him into the playoff round for third-spot honors.

Other Medalists

The other two ESSC medalists were Dick Kich 82, and Jay Barniak 96.

Following East Stroudsburg, the other team finishers were Edinboro 340, California 342, Clarion 343, Slippery Rock 350, Lock Haven 356, West Chester 357, Bloomsburg 364 and Cheyney 492.

Kutztown and Shippensburg, which failed to turn in all cards, tied for 12th. Millersville failed to compete.

PCM Wins, 5-3

WALLENPAUPACK — Pocono Catholic yesterday won its first game in three starts by trimming Wallenpaupack, 5-3.

Jim Kresge, the winning pitcher, allowed but four hits while striking out five and walking five.

The winners got off to a 4-0 lead before Wallenpaupack finally reached the scored with a pair of markers in the bottom of the third. Pocono Catholic while the losers added their final tally in the seventh.

Kevin Lewis poked out three of Pocono Catholic's six hits added another run in the fourth and Mike Ryan batted safely twice.

STROUDSBURG — Pocono Mountain gained its third golf victory in four starts yesterday by trimming Stroud Union, 9½-5½.

Medal scores for the winners were Ted Price 87, Mike Campbell 90, Alan Young 99 and Jim DeSanto 99.

Pen Argyl Wins Behind Turtzo

PEN ARGYL — Dave Turtzo pitched and batted the Green Knights of Pen Argyl to a 4-3 victory over visiting Hellertown yesterday in a Lehigh-Northampton League contest.

Turtzo, hurling 5 and two-thirds innings in relief, struck out four and walked two while batting 2-for-3 at the plate including a home run good for two RBIs.

Bob Gold also collected two hits for the Knights as both players accounted for four of Pen Argyl's five hits.

The Knights jumped out in front for a 3-0 lead in the first inning but the Panthers rallied for the tying markers in the top of the second. The deadlock was broken in the sixth when the Knights tallied the winning marker.

Cite High Jinks On Tennis Tour

LONDON (AP) — British star Bobby Wilson took several sharp cuts Monday at morals encountered in the world of championship tennis.

In a pre-view copy of his book, "My Side of the Net"—to be published on May 19—he cited these incidents:

In New York one night an American woman telephoned him and suggested she spend the night with him.

A hard-up but well-known tennis starlet who needed money so badly she gave striptease performances.

A tournament dance at a swank New York country club where they lined up a collection of debs and invited players to take their pick for the evening.

Off-Court Sex

He summed up the off-court sex saying:

"To be quite honest, I would say that the moral standards in the world of first-class tennis are not good. But then I suppose this is only to be expected when players are out of their country.

"After all, a more liberal code of behavior when abroad is certainly not something peculiar to tennis players."

Serving up some advice to the parents of tennis daughters, Wilson said:

"In the circumstances, however, I would definitely not allow a teen-age daughter of mine to tour abroad without a chaperone. There are too many temptations."

Players Like Sailors

It was here that he went into details about temptations in the United States, saying:

"One might say that tennis players are like sailors—they have a girl in every port. This is virtually a necessity, since some tournaments finish up with a dance for which one needs a partner, and there's no shortage of girls around the tennis circuit.

Warrior Netmen Win 20th

KUTZTOWN — East Stroudsburg State College's undefeated tennis squad yesterday rolled to its 10th straight victory of the season and 20th in a row by trouncing Kutztown 8-1.

Dave Rapp, Kutztown's only winner, handed ESSC's Butch Buecher his first defeat in singles competition, 3-6, 6-3, 7-5.

But Buecher teamed with Warner Graef in the doubles to remain unbeaten in that department as they trimmed Kutztown's Terry Summons and Bob Suck, 6-1, 6-0.

The other East Stroudsburg singles winners were Ron Woods, Dick Baker, Bud Ruhl, Graef and Dennis Kimmel. The doubles victors, in addition to Buecher and Graef, were Ruhl and Woods, and Baker and Ken Renno.

B. R. Meeting

STROUDSBURG—A meeting of the Monroe County Babe Ruth Baseball League will be held tonight in the YMCA starting at 8 o'clock.

Baseball Warriors Dropped To 2nd

KUTZTOWN — East Stroudsburg State College yesterday suffered its first Pennsylvania State Colleges Baseball Conference defeat as Kutztown edged out the visiting Warriors, 11-10.

The loss dropped ESSC to second place in the conference with a 4-1 mark. West Chester, with three wins, is undefeated.

A heated argument developed in the seventh inning when John Meszaros banged into an inning-ending triple play with the bases loaded and the Warriors leading by a 10-7 margin.

Kutztown pushed across two runs in the bottom of the seventh to cut the margin to 10-9, then added the tying and winning runs in the bottom of the ninth.

Meszaros had replaced power-hitting Tom Washburn of the Warriors who was removed from the game after being hit in the head with a pitch. It was the second time in the game Washburn was struck by a pitch.

Ed Kroll was the top hitter for the Warriors with three safeties in four trips. Lou Pacchioli, Jim Reynolds and Bob Butterworth each collected two hits in a losing cause.

Pride And Politics Reverse Featherweight Title Fight

ACCRA, Ghana (AP)—Pride and politics were seen as factors in a boxing controversy Monday as the Ghana Boxing Authority officially reversed the decision of the first world championship bout ever held in Ghana and declared Floyd Robertson "the new featherweight champion of the world."

Cuba's titleholder Sugar Ramos was given the verdict over Ghanian Robertson in Saturday's 15-round bout on a split decision of three officials.

British referee Jack Hart favored Robertson, but the two judges, Ed Lassman of Miami Beach, Fla., and Ramon Velazquez of Mexico gave Ramos a 70-69 edge on points.

Wild Melee

Announcement of the decision touched off a wild melee at ringside as fans accused the judges of racial bias and called white newsmen "Yankee imperialists."

Within an hour the boxing authority said it would declare the bout "No contest". Later it changed this decision and ruled that Robertson was the winner and new world champion.

The boxing authority is a branch of the Central Organization of Sports a government agency. The Ghanian government participated in the promotion of the title fight as a sports showpiece for the nation and had guaranteed the fighters' purses.

"Absolute Neutrality"

Ghana's sports director, Ohene Djan, himself under fire for having "bungled up Ghana's greatest sporting opportunity and left us open to worldwide ridicule", indicated the authority's reversal of the decision was based on the "absolute neutrality" of Hart.

*British boxing writers at ring*side and Jack Solomons of London, co-promoter of the bout, agreed that the decision was a bad one. Ghana newspapers were bitter in their criticism of the judges, calling them "corrupt capitalists" who were interested only in money.

Lassman, president of the World Boxing Association, and Velazquez, head of the Mexico Boxing Commission, insisted their votes would be unchanged if they had to decide again.

"My card was an honest evaluation of the fight," Lassman said. "Robertson finished big in the late rounds and fans who were convinced he would win had this strong last impression."

"Poor Sportsmanship"

Said Velazquez: "Ghanian boxing officials had no right to accuse us of cheating them. It was very poor sportsmanship."

Even before the fight the Evening News printed a description of the rejoicing that would take place when Robertson was declared winner. Foreign newsmen found that their stories had been altered to present a brighter picture of life in Ghana.

Afterwards censors slashed descriptions of the ringside fighting between fans and the Ghana army men who hustled the judges from the arena. But criticism of the foreign judges was passed.

Nazareth Zips Eastburg, 9-0

NAZARETH — The Cavaliers of East Stroudsburg were blanked by Nazareth, 9-0, yesterday in a Lehigh-Northampton League clash behind the three-hit pitching of Glen Gold.

Ron Spinner, who tripled, and Doug Hilyard and Russ Scott garnered the only base hits for Eastburg. The Cavaliers now stand at a 2-3-2 record in the league.

The Blue Eagles jumped off to a 2-0 lead in the bottom of the second when Gold singled, advanced to second on a walk, and scored on Deichman's RBI single. Hunt stole home while Deichman was being tagged out in a rundown on a delayed steal.

Nazareth sewed it up in the third inning when the Eagles tallied six runs, three of which were scored on Terry Hunt's homer.

Ray Gallagher, who was relieved by Roger Kunkle in the third, was charged with the loss. John Smoke finished on the hill for the losers.

Winning in the singles were Martha Meade, Linda Updegrave, Joan Desilets, Janet Klinck and Judy Cash. Doubles victors were Sandra Seidel and Judy Horning, and Janet Klinck and Jill Carson.

Pocono Mountain Trackmen Win

SWIFTWATER—Mark Mikels and Ron Kochera were double winners yesterday as Pocono Mountain won its first track meet in three outings by routing visiting Salisbury 72½-17½.

Mikels raced to first-place finishes in the 100 and 220-yard dashes while Kochera was a winner in the 880 and mile run.

No. Dancer Preps For Preakness

BALTIMORE (AP)—Northern Dancer, Kentucky Derby winner, stepped through his final extended workout Monday in preparation for Saturday's $150,000-added Preakness and trainer Horatio Luro expressed satisfaction over the condition of the little hard-hitting Canadian-owned colt.

"I would have preferred he went a little faster," said Luro after Northern Dancer worked one mile in 1:42 3-5 under the guidance of exercise boy Ramon Cerda. "But I was satisfied. We'll now take it easy until post time."

Printing Corp. Reports Net Earnings

NEW YORK — Printing Corporation of America today reported its first quarter earnings were 19 per cent ahead of last year's first quarter.

Hughes Printing Co. in East Stroudsburg is a division of Printing Corporation.

Net income for the quarter ended March 31, 1964 totaled $437,769, equal to 27 cents a share vs. $369,044, or 23 cents a share. Both per-share figures are based on the 1,620,000 shares outstanding at the end of both periods.

Net sales for the 1964 first quarter were $12,052,526, compared with sales of $11,739,734 for the comparable 1963 period.

Richard B. Knight, president of PCA, ascribed the improved earnings performance to "strong demand in the textbook printing field" and greatly improved performance by its cold type composition unit.

PCA produces business, trade and specialized periodicals; advertising and sales promotional material; specialty printing of various types; and text, general interest and fine art books. It also sells paper through a subsidiary. Sales last year totaled over $47 million.

In order to meet the increased demand for text and trade books, the company has recently concentrated its efforts on upgrading its capacity in web offset equipment, a high-speed economical way to print over long production runs.

Mobil Guide Available To Travelers

Visitors to Stroudsburg will be alerted to local attractions in the new 1964 Mobil Travel Guide, which will be published May 1.

Completely revised for the estimated 100 million Americans who will vacation by car this year, the new Mobil Travel Guide will be availabel in six regional volumes.

The 496-page Middle Atlantic edition gives local history, detailed information on places of historical and cultural interest and lists and rates Stroudsburg motels. The telephone number, exact location and prices are given for each listing with details on hours, family rates, parking, TV and radio, laundry service, baby-sitter service, provision for pets, type of cooking and decor.

"Guest Certificates" bound into each book, entitle the bearer to purchase admission tickets at reduced prices to 16 of the most popular sightseeing attractions in the area. Of special interest to families planning to visit New York are guest certificates to 19 outstanding features at the World's Fair. A group of six can save as much as $100 on admission charges locally and about $50 at the Fair.

1964 Wheat Sign Up Is Near

Wheat growers may sign up to take part in the 1964 voluntary wheat program through Friday, May 15, 1964, James W. White, chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, said today. That means that only a short time remains for wheat producers to get in touch with their ASCS County Office and idicate their intention to take part in the program. Filing an application is the first step toward such participation.

To qualify only for price-support loans or purchases, according to the chairman, will mean keeping the wheat acreage within the farm's wheat allotment. To qualify for the additional benefits of diversion payments and marketing certificates, made available under the new wheat law, producers will set aside an acreage equal to at least 11.11 per cent of the farm allotment for an approved conservation use in addition to the farm's normal acreage in conservation uses.

Timberpanel Home Used As Information Booth

R. C. Cramer Lumber Co. Is Erecting The Building

EAST STROUDSBURG — A Timberpanel Home is being erected at the Phillipsburg-Easton Toll Bridge by the R.C. Cramer Lumber Co. of East Stroudsburg.

The home will serve as an information booth for persons traveling to New York City and the World's Fair.

The Timber panel homes are the latest in leisure and retirement homes. They are built of solid, permanent, rustic, red cedar made in simple, easy way to assemble sections for speedy construction.

Cedar is one of the world's best insulation materials. Timberpanel Homes feature two inch solid wood floors which are insulative as well as structual. The homes also features four inch thick walls and can be supplied with walls six inches thick for the most northern areas.

Even the solid plank roof can be taken into consideration when insulation is considered. These homes are especially designed to meet all government regulations so that they can be financed by government supported mortgage plans.

The story of Timberpanel Homes leads back to its president and founder Walter Lindal in so many ways that his history is its story. Leaving military service in 1945 he went into the business of manufacturing houses in Toronto.

He particularly developed and promoted a solid plank summer cottage and first showed his three inch cedar plank home at the Canadian National Exhibition in 1947.

Subsequently he started other plants in Quebec, Nova Scotia and in Florida and his company Colonial Homes became the largest manufacturer of leisure homes in the North American Continent.

Finding that west coast Cedar cost almost the same wherever he went, he conceived the idea of making his cedar homes at the west coast from a single plant close to the trees and shipping them all over the North American Continent at a single price.

The economy of a single plant would enable the use of more mechanization than was possible in the smaller branch plant operations.

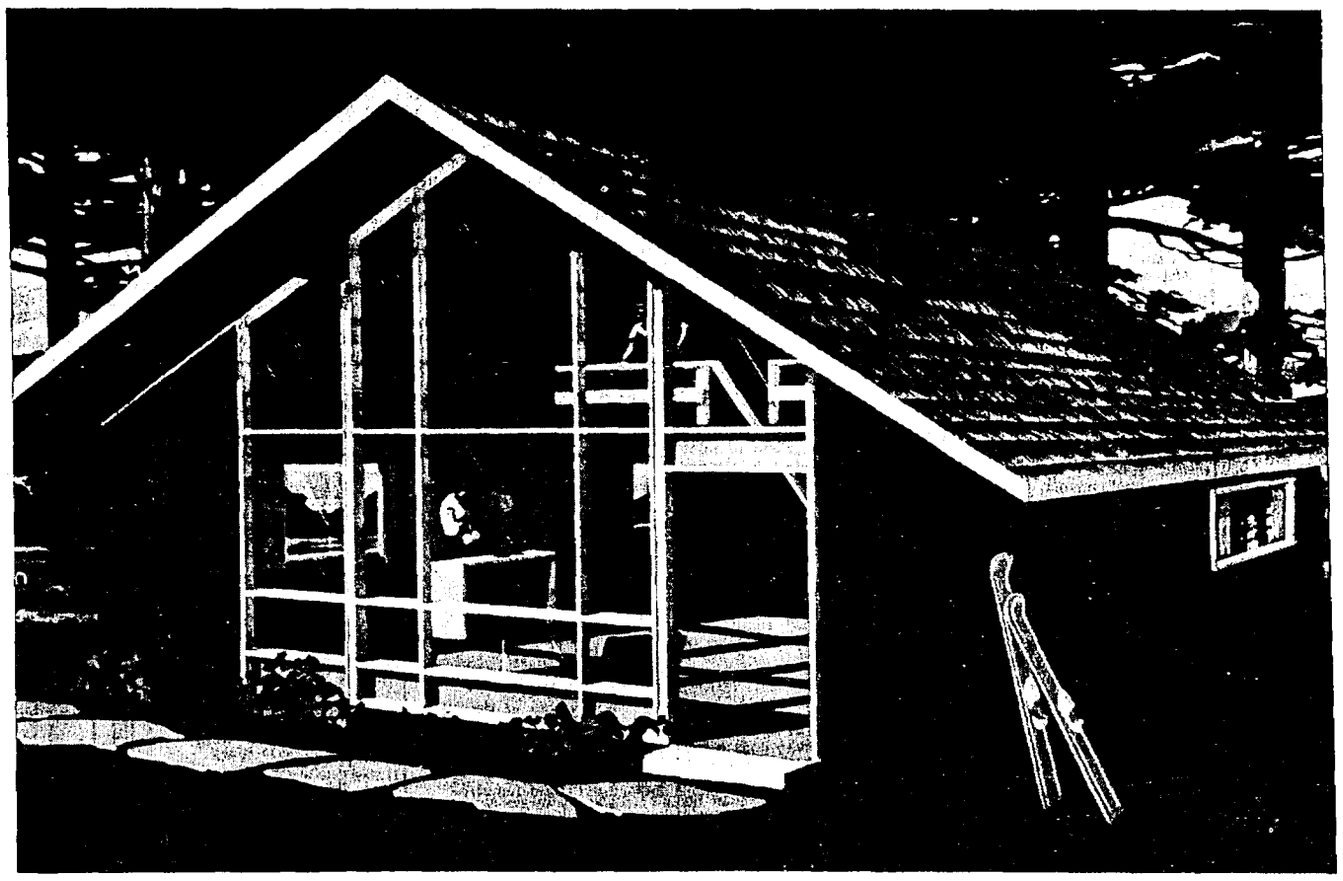
Also the savings in freight on the waste practically covered the manufacturing cost. Thus a manufactured home could be delivered all over the continent at raw lumber costs.

Also it became evident that the house parts could be shipped all over the world or at least to all those parts where west coast cedar is now being shipped. Shipments to the Caribean, the Mediterranean and Oceania could be made in the wintertime which would level out annual production and further economize end costs.

It was not until January of 1962 that he was able to sell his eastern plants and commence the west coast operation.

Production was set up in Burnaby, British Columbia within a "stone's throw" of several of the largest cedar saw mills in the world.

The Timberpanel Home is a solid wood home. There are no joists, studs or rafters. The floors, walls, partitions and roofs are solid timber. They are natural cedar finish inside and out, you only set the panel in place and your wall is done.



INFORMATION HOME — R. C. Cramer Lumber Co. of East Stroudsburg is erecting a Timberpanel Home at the Phillipsburg-Easton bridge on Rt. 22 in Phillipsburg, N. J. It will be used as an information center for persons traveling to New York City and the Worlds Fair.

Fred Fetherman Offers Helpful Tips In Painting

Paint a ceiling without a ladder? You can do it with a long-handled roller while standing on the floor if you are going to paint the walls later — as most people do.

First thing to do, of course, is to select the type of quality paint you'll use. Flat paints are preferred for ceilings in all rooms except kitchens and baths where semi-gloss enamel is recommended because of its greater resistance to moisture vapor and steam. The reason for using flat paint elsewhere is that it reflects light without glare.

Next comes color. Many people paint their ceilings white for the greatest reflection of light and because white will make a ceiling look higher. But there's no law that compels you to.

A lighter tint of the wall colors can be used or you can paint the ceiling of one room in a tint of the wall color of the adjoining room to create a continuous color scheme that will tie two or more rooms together.

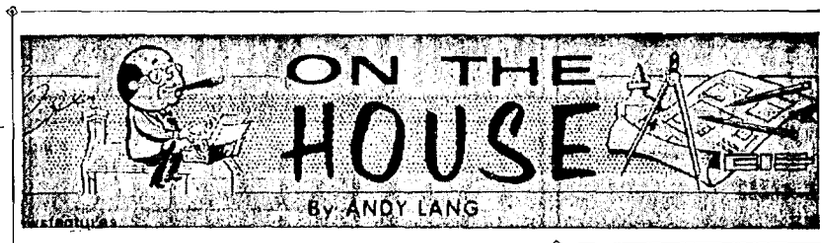
Where ceilings are high, you can reverse the above advice and paint them in darker tones to lower them visually.

If you do the entire job with a roller, here are a few things to bear in mind. Roll the first stroke away from you. Don't roll too fast or you'll spatter the paint. Slow down as you reach the wall; smashing into the wall with the roller will shower paint all over. Ease into the junction of wall and ceiling so as to get as little paint as possible on the wall.

Of course, the job will be a bit neater if you use a ladder or a firm plank held by two ladders to roll or brush on the paint near the wall, protecting it with a metal strip known as a painter's time saver, shirt cardboards; or you can use special rollers that are made so that no paint can land on a surface at right angles to the one you're working on.

If you are using a latex paint which doesn't show lap marks, paint a narrow strip around the entire perimeter of the ceiling. You'll fill in the center area later with your roller.

If you are using an alkyd paint, it's best to work across the narrow dimension of the ceiling. Start in a corner and paint a narrow strip two or three feet wide against the wall.



What's new on the market?

THE MANUFACTURER'S CLAIM — That this tool, which bears some resemblance to a pair of pliers, combines a wire cutter, a wire stripper, a terminal crimper and a bolt slicer; that the wire cutter is situated near the tip, making it easy to cut wire in cramped quarters; that a bolt is screwed into the proper-size hole to the desired length, after which only a moderate amount of hand pressure is applied, producing a clean cut without the usual burrs.

THE PRODUCT — A varnish containing special epoxy resins which give it an unusually durable surface.

THE MANUFACTURER'S CLAIM — That this varnish has a stretching ingredient which seals out dirt and moisture while protecting it against the heaviest traffic and abrasive abuse; that it will not be harmed by soaps, alcohols, fruit juices or even boiling liquids; that it prevents water spotting and rings; and that it dry's in two hours.

Cy Barrett Says

Flavored Toothbrush

By Cyrus Barrett, Jr.

DEAR CY:

I have an idea for a household item which should go into every home in the U.S. French movie heroines may enjoy bathing in bubble baths, but I only want to bathe in dollar bills. How can I accomplish this?

RICHARD O.

DEAR RICHARD:

Do as Charles H. Watkins, Jr. did. You might discover yourself in the tub with dollar bills and bubbles, too. In 1958, as a marine flyer in the Orient, he was pestered by thoughts of a low-priced, disposable toothbrush with dentifrice on the bristles. Seeing some in Japan, Watkins imported 15,000 to this country upon separation from the Marines. Few sales. In 1960, implacable Charlie Watkins developed his own design, with bristles dipped in peppermint flavored toothpaste, and sought legal counsel.

The patent is still pending, but not his career. Du Pont spied Watkins' give-away toothbrushes in a New York hotel and wrote him, asking to supply materials. This led to a royalty agreement between Watkins and E. I. Du Pont de Nemours & Company, Incorporated, Products Division. Besides royalties, our hero was granted sales opportunities with airlines, hotels, motels, chain restaurants, vending operations and premium users.

Then, he walked in on a prospect, Kemmons Wilson, chairman of the board of Holiday Inns of America. Mr. Wilson heard his pitch and replied, "We have 18 million guests annually and I don't believe we can afford to give away an item costing 4 cents.

I want you, however, to become a member of this organization. You can keep your toothbrush business as a sideline." And, so it has been, with Charles H. Watkins becoming assistant to the chairman of the board of Holiday Inns, with a hip pocket enterprise. All of which proves: Get all the product protection allowed by law. Get your product on the market, and keep your eyes bugged for opportunities.

CY

DEAR CY:

Through a series of misjudgments, illnesses and unavoidable unemployments, we got behind in our time payments. My husband has been working again for four months and we are catching up. He is making $40 more a month than when he was laid off. By July, he will be making $30 over that. Because of our past difficulties, we want to make sure we have money in the bank to play safe. My husband thinks we should begin by salting away his salary increases in a savings account. I think we should apply them to our debts, so we can quit paying interest charges.

LIZ MORLEY

DEAR LIZ:

You are both about 50 per cent correct. Assuming you are paying in the neighborhood of 7 per cent add-on interest, you might be smart to allocate half of the extra money to a savings account and half to your liabilities. If you are paid, say 3-½ per cent interest on savings, the loans would be 3-½ per cent. When you get in the clear, systematically direct most of the extra money into the savings account. Beware of the transition! Don't make the mistake of feeling you are moving forward by falling backward into financial quicksand.

CY

DEAR CY:

A friend of a friend of mine owns a part interest in Cassius Clay. After the Liston fight, Clay was invited to his shareholder's fancy home. Glancing around the gorgeous decor, Cassius remarked, "Ever realize you don't have to be No. 1 to afford all this? To make any big money I had to become tops in my work." Fighting is sure a hard way to make a buck.

GREGG D.

DEAR GREGG:

The difference in earnings between the man who does a job fairly well and one who does it best is astonishing. My guess is the Clay shareholder racked up a few championships of his own before he bought the home . . . and a slice of Cassius.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Tuesday, May 12, 1964

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — The vision and drive necessary to achieve as you should must come from within, and be ably, carefully nurtured. Do not hesitate to meet challenges.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — A day in which you will have to watch your "I's and "Qs", take steps to avoid needless errors. Nothing worth having will be easy to come by.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — Try not to be over-sensitive now. It could interfere with your best efforts. This you do not want for the day could be one of great accomplishment — both in routine matters and in enterprises launched on your own initiative.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Pull up the reins rather than dash down blind alleys. You could step into trouble through wrong tactics. Be careful in investments, disbursing assets, accepting new propositions.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Do not fret over delays or disappointments. Meet obstacles with composure; you can overcome them all. Many good offerings indicated.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) — Decisions made now will have great bearing on the outcome of plans for the future. Be careful in travel, commitments, investing.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Line up your finest traits, abilities and other assets and move forward confidently toward your highest objectives. Once organized, you can solidify gains.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — Study propositions and the people who make them. Don't make agreements too quickly, but remember that little ventured, little gained. Recognize advantages, realize aims in steady manner.

November 23 to December 23 (Sagittarius) — STOP where there is doubt about procedure or solution. Search for further knowledge before going on. In all conferences and negotiations, discuss matters quietly, dispassionately.

December 24 to January 20 (Capricorn) — Fine Saturn influences. Put out feelers to gain new perspective, fresh views, a variety of opinions. Business interests highly favored.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius) — An above-average day in certain areas; possibly trying in others. Don't do half a job, nor get only half of a story. Carelessness could lead to complication.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces) — You may run into some snags because of unexpected opposition to your plans. No one may wish to lead; you, too, may be tempted to rigidity. Curb the tendency. Preserve for cooperation.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with a magnetic personality; are always ready for action. Independent, you often like to do things in an unusual way, but will carry out due orders conscientiously. You have a wonderful manner with the ill and helpless, but disagree vociferously at times with family, friends. Curb over-sensitivity, extravagance, irritability. Birthdate of: Dante Gabriel Rossetti, poet, painter.

Bangor Lodge To Honor Past Masters Wednesday

BANGOR—Atty. Earl S. Heffner, Jr., of Hellertown will be the guest speaker Wednesday night when Bangor Lodge #565, F. and A.M. marks past masters night.

The meeting wil be conducted by Everett Price, worshipful master of the Bangor Lodge.

Public Notices

NOTICE

The proposed Budget of the Smithfield Township School Dishtrict for the 1964-65 school year is available for inspection at the Office of the Principal, Smithfield Township School District, Minisink Hills, Pa., between the hours of 9 A.M. and 3 P.M. Final adoption to be made at the regular meeting on June 1, 1964.

NOTICE is hereby given, pursuant to Section 680 of the Public School Code of 1957, as amended, that every resident or inhabitant of the School District of Smithfield Township, Monroe County, Pennsylvania, upon attaining twenty-one (21) years of age or over, becoming a resident or inhabitant in said School District, shall, within twelve (12) months after the happening thereof, notify Charles Balmoos whose address is R.D. #1, East Stroudsburg, Pa., assessor of said Smithfield Township, of his becoming of age or becoming a resident or inhabitant. Any person failing, within said period, to notify the said assessor, shall, in addition to the tax levied by such school district, be liable to such school district in a penal sum equal to such tax.

By order of the Board of School Directors of Smithfield Township.
Russell D. Scott, Jr., Secretary

NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that the resolution of the preceding year which imposed a Ten Dollar ($10.00) per capita tax on all residents over the age of twenty-one (21) years residing in Tunkhannock Township School District, Monroe County Pennsylvania has been re-enacted without any substantial change and the same tax imposed for the tax year beginning the first Monday of July 1964.
TUNKHANNOCK TOWNSHIP BOARD OF SCHOOL DIRECTORS
Mr. Clair Witt, President
Mrs. Charlotte Davenport, Secy.

NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that the Resolution of the preceding year which imposed a Five Dollar ($5.00) per capita tax on all residents over the age of twenty-one (21) years residing in Paradise Township School District, Monroe County, Pennsylvania has been proposed for re-enactment without any substantial change and the same tax imposed for the tax year beginning the first Monday of July 1964.
PARADISE TOWNSHIP BOARD OF SCHOOL DIRECTORS
Dr. Thomas H. Grainger, Jr. President
David E. Nelson, Secretary

Public Notice

NOTICE

NOTICE is hereby given pursuant to Section 2 of the Act of June 25, 1947, P. L. 1145, its amendments and supplements, that the School District of the Township of Smithfield, Monroe County, Pennsylvania, intends to adopt a resolution levying a $10.00 per capita tax for school purposes at a meeting to be held on June 1, 1964 at 7:00 P.M., Eastern Standard Time. The reason which, in the judgment of the Board of Directors of the School District, necessitates the tax is that the revenue of the School District from other sources is not sufficient to pay salary increases of the teaching staff and to pay the cost of improvements, repairs and maintenance of equipment, furniture and building. The amount of revenue estimated to be derived from this tax is the sum of $10,720.00.

By order of the Board of Directors of the School District by the Township of Smithfield.
RUSSELL D. SCOTT, Secretary

Slate Belt DeMolay Cites 9, Installs New Officers

BANGOR — Newly elected officers were installed and recognition was given to nine recently initiated members by the Slate Belt Chapter of the Order of DeMolay at recent ceremonies in the auditorium of the Bangor Area Joint Junior High School.

The installing officers were headed by Walter C. Emery, past master councillor of the local chapter. He was assisted by the following master masons: John D. Hamm, past master of the local lodge; Earl Reasely, John Lohman, Robert Stratton, Sr. and Edward C. Fishler.

Also, Andrew Counterman, Bangor, marshall; Jeffrey Lee, Pen Argyl, sentinel; Tim Caracio, Bangor chaplain; Samuel Brown Flicksville, standard bearer; Tim Brown, Flicksville, Almoner and the following preceptors: Charles Cole, Bangor; Walter Cole, Bangor; Michael Ronca, Roseto; Richard Scott, Portland; Richard Hofick, Meyers Crossing; Richard Hochrein, Portland and Edgar Joseph, Bangor.

The installing team was presented by C. Edward Fishler, Dad adviser of the local chapter and was composed of members of Bangor, Portland and Pen Argyl Masonic Lodges. Newly installed officers were escorted to their respective stations by members of the Slate Belt Chapter, Order of Rainbow.

Following the installation Randy Niper of Hugh DePaynes Chapter Order of DeMolay of Easton gave the "flower talk" to the nine new members of the Slate Belt Chapter. These are: Dennitt D. Golden, Craig T. Hess, Lawrence B. Locke, John G. McCabe, Darryl Mitchell, Paul F. Thuemmler, Robin L. Tinsley and Edmund P. Turtzo, Jr. The altar for the flower talk was prepared by Miss Marilyn Caracio, worthy advisor of the Slate Belt Chapter, Order of Rainbow.

Mrs. Edith Mae Emery, mother of Walter C. Emery, past worthy councillor of the local chapter, presented a light for the new organ to be placed in the lodge hall, in memory of Walter Emery, one of the founders of the local chapter. The organ will be a gift from the members of the chapter and will be dedicated to the two members of the Slate Belt Chapter, Robert M. Butz and Lawrence A. Ryder, who were killed in a car-train collision last Christmas Eve.

5 Area Men To Sing In Glee Concert

UNIVERSITY PARK — Five area men are members of the 80-men Penn State Glee Club who presented a traditional Mother's Day concert Sunday afternoon at the Pennsylvania State University.

Blaine Shover, of Bangor, a senior in music education, is president and manager of the club as well as accompanist. Frank Gullo is the club's director.

Others singing in the group are Robert N. Hosler of Stroudsburg, baritone; William A. Viechnicki of East Stroudsburg, second tenor; Richard R. Maxwell of Delaware Water Gap, second tenor, and Marcus S. Sabatino of Wind Gap, bass.

Bangor Teachers At World's Fair

BANGOR — Members and guests of the Bangor Area Chapter of the Penna. State Education Assn. enjoyed a day's outing Saturday to the World's Fair in New York City.

Auto Kills Donkey, Maims Mule

STROUDSBURG — In an attempt to outmaneuver a car, a donkey was killed and a mule received a broken leg over the weekend on Rt. 115 in Soss Twp.

A New Jersey motorist, John Wincek, 39, of Nixon, tried without luck to avoid the collision, Stroudsburg State Police said.

Wincek was traveling north on Rt. 115 when he spotted the two animals on the road, police said. He swerved to avoid hitting them, but they ran into the path of his car.

Both apparently escaped from the barnyard of James Stafford of Saylorsburg, RD 1. The mule was valued at $50 and the donkey at $25.

Police said about $350 damage was done to Wincek's car. He was unhurt.

Car Burns At Sherman

STROUDSBURG — Stroudsburg firemen extinguished a car fire Saturday at 1:15 a.m. off Quaker Alley between the Monroe Distributing Company and the Sherman Theatre.

Randall Lowe of 510 Main St., Stroudsburg, owner of the car, told police that his car had been parked since 6:10 p.m. Friday.

Firemen put out the blaze with extinguishers and a booster line. Damage was confined to the front seat of the vehicle.

A spokesman for the firemen said a malfunction in the fire alarm system occurred. The siren on the hill failed to sound. He explained that a device which automatically opens firehouse doors failed to operate and the street sirens did not sound. However, the firehouse fog horn alarm sounded, he said.

Dr. Appel Will Serve On MAS Studies Council

EAST STROUDSBURG — By special request from the Middle States Council for the Social Studies, Dr. John C. Appel will serve on a committee during the Spring meeting of the Council to be held at the Waldorf Astoria in New York May 15.

Dr. Appel, a specialist on relationships of the social sciences to liberal arts, has been chosen to serve on the program and also as a member of a special committee that will render consultive services to colleges and universities in the Middle Atlantic States.

During the Spring meeting, Dr. Appel will be one of 16 social scientists representing the various areas of history, government and sociology.

Dr. David Alloway of Montclair State College, co-chairman of the committee, has requested Dr. Appel's service on the committee.

Woman Hits Billboard, Pinned In Car

MOUNTAINHOME — A woman driving alone on Rt. 390 in Mountainhome over the weekend swerved off the right side of the road and hit a billboard. She was pinned in the car for 30 minutes.

The woman, Mrs. Ann Grandis, 26, of Cresco, was extricated by the use of two jacks, Harry Campbell, Barrett Twp. police chief, investigated.

Mrs. Grandis was taken to the General Hospital of Monroe County with lacerations of the right knee and bruises of the body. She is listed in fair condition.

According to police, she drove off the road while traveling north and caused an estimated $800 damage to her sedan.

Junto School Curbs Program

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The 24-year-old Junto adult school, enrollment down to 2,700 from a high of 18,000 in the 1950s, announced Monday it plans to sell its center city building and curtail much of its teaching program. Officials said the school has lost $20,000 a year for the past three years. President Philip Klein said the Junto would remain in business in smaller quarters.

Scott Blasts LBJ Campaign

POTTSTOWN, Pa. (UPI — U.S. Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., said this weekend that this country is fighting in Viet Nam with "two hands tied behind our backs."

Scott told the North Coventry Republican Club that we are using out of date equipment to fight the war and permitted the Communists to use a "privileged sanctuary" in North Viet Nam.

"Haven't we learned anything from Korea?" he asked.

Scott said there were 101 American casualties in Viet Nam in 1962, 503 in 1963 and 324 so far this year.

He asked when President Lyndon B. Johnson is "going to stop campaigning and get to work."

MORA Club Celebrates Holiday

STROUDSBURG — The Men of Retirement Age Club (MORA) celebrated founders day recently at the Y. M. C. A. in Stroudsburg.

Eight-year members of MORA spoke about future club challenges.

W. Peirce Harley, Y.M.C.A. secretary and Dr. D. B. Corson of East Stroudsburg State College congratulated MORA on its dedication and ideals.

Dr. Corson added MORA also means "Men of Recognized Ability."

Harry Strunk, A. M. Trogner, E. J. Lake, A. Doering, Robert Kellington, Charles Keiper, John W. Shaffer, Dr. R. A. Barnard, John R Wilson and the Rev. L. E Markin.

It was announced that a film entitled "Turn the Wheel West" will be shown May 13. It was also announced that plans for the September nomination and election of MORA Club officers will be launched in late summer.

Georgian Hits Car

PORTLAND A 16-year-old Georgia youth was injured over the weekend when he collided with a parked car on North Delaware Ave., in Portland.

Jesse Felker, Portland chief of police, identified the driver as Marvin Olen Smith.

Felker took Smith to the General Hospital of Monroe County. The youth received seven stiches on the forehead and complained of knee injuries, police said.

He was visiting his father in Portland.

The youth apparently fell asleep while traveling south on North Delaware Ave., when the collision with the parked car occured, Felker said. The parked car is owned by Carl LaBar of Delaware Ave.

Swiftwater Man Publishes Book On Embryology

NEW YORK CITY — A significant work on embryology for pre-medical students was published recently by the son of Mrs. Arthur Rugh of Swiftwater.

The book is "Vertebrate Embryology — The Dynamics of Development," by Roberts Rugh of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Columbia University. It has been published by Harcourt, Brace and World of New York.

"It's gotten very good reviews," Mrs. Rugh said of her son's book. "It has over 1,600 illustrations. In fact, Harcourt was anxious to get it. They kept pushing Rob to get it out.

"Of course, he's relieved that it's finished," she said.

Mrs. Rugh has lived in Swiftwater since 1942. Before that she lived in China for 35 years. She notes that Roberts was born in Ohio and lived in China with the family.

"He's a scientist in the medical center in New York—he's doing cancer research and lectures quite a bit," Mrs. Rugh said.

Mrs. Rugh is proud of her son for "some time ago he lost an eye. He does all his work with only one eye," she said.

The book itself emphasizes the dynamic nature of the development of embryos by following a shapeless egg into a fantastically complex organism.

The book is designed as a basic text on the subject, and covers embryonic development of the frog, chicke, mouse, pig, and human, plus the factors that create the development.

Many of the illustrations were done by Rugh himself.

Slate Belt Girls At County Home

BANGOR — The Slate Belt Chapter of the Order of Rainbow Saturday afternoon entertained the guests at the Monroe County Home to celebrate Mother's Day.

A flute trio composed of Marianne Williams, Jane Fritzsche and Carol Strunk accompanied by Linda Jane Lange played several selections for the guests.

Flowers were presented to all the mothers who were guests at the home.

The group was accompanied by Mrs. Daniel Caracio, Mrs. H. C. Flory and Mrs. Donald C. Herd, advisers

WRINKLES

by Marie Davant

New York: — Chemical Science has found a white substance made with quicksilver that works wonders on wrinkled, roughened face and hands. Use it one time and it is entirely possible you will see improvement next morning. In a few days dry-skin wrinkles start to vanish. Many of the small ones around the eyes and mouth have already disappeared. But that is not all: "Old-Age" (weathered) brown spots on hands and arms — brown "age" darkness on surface of face and neck fades away! Rich oils lubricate pores so blackheads can slip out without squeezing. Surface pimples and blemishes and scars, outwardly caused, dry up or become less noticeable! But don't take my word for it. Make a 6-day test without risking one penny. Just get a jar of Peacock's Imperial Creme at your favorite department or drug store. Use this thrilling cream for 6 days —and if you are not delighted with results, full price will be refunded. No questions asked. Peacock's Imperial Creme can work wonders for wrinkles, lines, brown spots and other weathered blemishes. You may obtain Imperial Creme for $2.00 plus tax from Rea & Derrick rugs. Clip this out.
